1986, East Side High School stands proud.

Mr. James Kennedy, 1st Principal, East Side High School.

Mr. Robert Wujciak and Mrs. Leonor Outor, current East Side Principals.

1911 / 1986: THEN AND NOW

On November 25, 1908, a resolution was proposed for the building of East Side High School. The school was organized and opened on the first of February in 1911 for its first term, at the Market Street Annex.

The following April the school moved to the new building with an enrollment of about 450 students coming from all parts of the city.

Now, 75 years later, East Side has an enrollment of approximately 1600 along with three buildings.

Courses of study offered in 1911 were the General or Classical, which prepared the students for college; the Commercial for those students interested in a business career; the Technical, which helped prepare boys for industries and trained girls in the arts and sciences for the purpose of practical home-keeping.

Today, East Side has become very diversified in its course offerings. No longer are girls given only cooking courses in order to become better homemakers. Today, every student has a chance to select what courses they wish to study in addition to a required program.

Another area which varies greatly with the past is athletics. There was a time when the only physical activities available for girls to participate in was basketball, field hockey, and dance class, while the boys were involved in baseball, football, hockey, basketball, track and tennis.

Now, along with the other

curriculum changes, athletics has also changed. More and more girls are involved in the once for males only dominated world of sports. Today, girls are participating and competing in all areas of athletic activities.

In the past, evening school was also offered to those who wanted and needed to complete their education. Among the standard subjects of English and Math, carpentry, pattern making, wood turning, sheet metal work, forging, bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting, dressmaking, millinery, housekeeping, and cooking were offered.

This aspect of East Side's 75 year history has not changed drastically. East Side still offers area residents the chance to complete their high school education. Today, English and Math are still available to the new wave of immigrants to the city; however, these courses are now called Adult Education Classes.

As time went by, educational ideas and needs began to change and expand - and so did East Side. Today, 75 years later, East Side has developed into a multi-faceted and diverse urban high school.

It may be bigger, the students may be more ethnically diverse, but the original goal remains intact; a strong desire to offer students the opportunity for the best possible education that began in the mind and hearts of those members of the Newark Board of Education in 1908, when they put forth the resolution to build a high school, to be called East Side, in the city of Newark.

We the class of 1986, now take our place as part of the history of that resolution issued so long ago. Just as those who have gone before us, we are now part of a special legacy.

As a class, we have shared many memorable events, but perhaps the most special to us is that we graduate during the 75th anniversary of our school.

In order to commemorate this auspicious occasion, special pictures have been reproduced for your enjoyment.

1911/1986: THE WAY IT WAS

Over the years East Side has had some changes. Some were drastic and some were very minor. Of course, some changes were necessary, while others were natural steps in improvement. However, some things have been altered to a point where you would have never known they existed unless they were obvious.

One example is the boys' gym. In 1911, gym was held on the third floor in "C" building. It was, and still is, quite spacious with many windows. Shower baths were located near one door and ample dressing rooms were also used. Boys' showers were located above the girls' bathing facilities.

Today, this gym is used mainly for gymnastics. Showers are no longer part of the average gym period. Girls and boys also have their respective gyms, but co-educational classes do exist.

One area which has changed is the art program. Students still sit down to draw and paint. Granted, today's techniques and supplies are more varied, but the same basic ideas related to drawing and painting are still in use.

Another area which has changed somewhat is the drama department. Productions in the early years of our school were more detailed, whereas today, specific detail does not hold as much importance. There are similarities, such as the drive and dedication that the students have for the production of these dramas.

1911 was the beginning of a destiny, one in which we now find ourselves a part of. Looking back, the past was really the backbone for what we have now.

SPARKLING LIKE

Newark sparkles under the sun.

Members from the cast of Godspell take their final bows at the last performance.

What actually makes '86 sparkle like a diamond? The answer to that question is clearly the student body. East Siders are always striving for the top with many hours of hard work and dedication with the hope of attaining that "special goal." That is what the class of '86 is about, striving to attain goals, and by doing so adding a bit of sparkle to our surroundings.

That spark was ignited 75 years ago, and although times have changed, the basic beliefs and principles for a chance to acquire an education still stand as they did then.

It is hard to believe that East Side has weathered so many storms for the past seven and a half decades. We have undergone many changes, but our goals are not so different from that very first graduating class so long ago.

Four years ago we came to this school and were called "freshmen." We were not very sure of ourselves because everything was so new and different. We were able to overcome many difficulties and challenges, so that four years later, we are the graduates of '86.

East Side will always hold a special place in our memories as we continue to pursue our goals and careers.

We surely will come to realize, with special thanks, those teachers who pushed us "that extra mile," and we will have special thoughts for those who believed in us and helped us develop our unique and sparkling personalities.

A very important part of our lives has been spent at East Side and we value the time and opportunity.

We salute its endurance and traditions over the years and hope for "75 more" in the wish that it will continue to enhance and fulfill the lives of all who will follow us and keep on sparkling like a diamond.

While walking to school, East Side Seniors share some humor.

ENTERTAINMENT

"By My Side" is excellently performed by this duo.

The cast portrays deep anguish for their sins during the symbolic crucifixion.

John and Lysette fascinate the audience with a fabulous dance routine.

On the evenings of June 7 and 8, the Junior Class presented Godspell, directed by Mrs. Glover. This gospel according to St. Michael, was performed by East Side's talented actors and actresses and choreographed by Ms. Shirley Pfaff. As parents and friends entered the auditorium, a feeling of excitement permeated the air. They quickly found seats and waited with anticipation for the show to begin.

As the curtain went up, everyone's attention focused on the stage members and the cast. The show started with the song "Tower of Babel", performed by the entire cast. As the musical progressed, the cast enacted simple stories, sayings and parables of the gospel. Dancing and music of many varieties such as folk, ballad, pop, rock and light musical comedy was incorporated along with dramatics. The acts went by quickly and before we knew it, the band was playing "On the Willows", the second to last song. The show came to a close with the entire cast performing an exuberant finale.

Godspell was truly great entertainment and expressed clearly the ideas of Jesus Christ, which was to teach love and joy rather than hate and sadness.

THE PROM:

Smiling with anticipation, these Juniors await the beginning of a special evening.

'JUST ONE TOUCH'

Enjoying the evening, Diane Guerreiro and Leo Coelho decide to sit this one out.

The evening of May 17th, 1985, will definitely bring back many wonderful memories for those who attended the Junior Prom. It took many weeks of preparation to make it an enjoyable evening for everyone. Surely, the girls will never forget their aching feet as they hit shopping mall after shopping mall searching for that perfect dress and the guys will surely remember trying to build up enough nerve to ask that "special someone".

The weeks flew by and prom night finally arrived. At about seven o'clock the empty seats at the Mediterranean Manor began to fill. Everything looked beautiful. The white tablecloths, red napkins and flower centerpieces added that special touch, but that was nothing compared to the appearance of the students. Everyone looked stunning and seemed not to mind giving up jeans and sneakers for the night.

As the lights dimmed, the theme song "Just One Touch" was played and the couples headed for the dance floor. After that, things really started rolling. Dinner was served while D. J. Freddy Freak played, Crazy For You. After dinner, the dance floor was the main attraction where everyone was having fun doing their own special steps. Then everything calmed down for the playing of the theme song once again before the night was over.

FASHION SHOW:

The 1985 fashion show at East Side was presented by Mrs. Glover and the Junior Class. Countless hours of rehearsal were put into the two performances that were given on March 29th and 30th. Parents, teachers and friends were all invited to attend and watch the talented students model and perform on stage.

As you entered the auditorium and walked down the aisles to find seats, music blared from speakers to keep you temporarily entertained until the show started. It did not take long for the auditorium to fill, the music stopped, and everyone sat in quiet anticipation for the show to begin. Finally, the music started and dancers appeared on stage. The "party" had begun!

The audience went wild as different musical performers were introduced. This year, however, Mrs. Glover did something very different. Instead of the usual lip-sync routines, students actually sang the songs just like the musical artists who made them famous.

The crowd was dancing in the aisles and singing along with the entertainers such as "Prince," "Cyndi Lauper," and the "Go-Go's." There was even more excitement as the live rock band "Outlet" played favorite rock songs.

In between musical presentations, the latest fashions for the spring and summer were shown by East Side's talented models. There was even a wedding scene to show the latest styles in formal gowns.

After the final fashions were modeled and the last singer had finished, the audience began to file out of the auditorium. Grins and happy faces were very noticeable as everyone talked about their favorite part. The show was a huge success and for those who sweated and worked those long hours, it was an extra special reward for their effort and dedication.

SCHOOL SWAYS

The Navy Band performed at East Side High School on April 3, 1985. The band consisted of sailers who travel to perform in different sections of the country for special occasions, assemblies and benefits.

They entertained us with various selections from some of the most popular hits on the charts such as, I Can't Fight This Feeling, Lover Boy, Careless Whispers, and Desert Moon.

The stage was crowded with wires, equipment, colored lights, and instruments, all needed for those "special effects".

As soon as the band struck the first chords and sang the opening words, the auditorium was filled with cheers and whistles.

Juniors and Seniors alike clapped, sang and swayed to the overwhelming beats given out by the band which was invited to perform by our class advisor, Mrs. Glover.

The program was a gigantic success filled with an hour of tunes in which each song sung had a different singer.

This program was very entertaining, and the group was definitely terrific. They were given a standing ovation and applause to match.

What a way to begin a school day, we really should have more live entertainment at East Side High.

BANDS: A FIRST

The first Battle of the Bands at East Side was presented on April 24th, 1985, by Mr. Molinaro and the Civics Club. Five bands performed as a panel of judges and an excited audience looked on.

Many students gathered at the gym door counting down the minutes until the big event. Soon it was 7:30 p.m. and time for the dance to begin. Members of the Civics Club greeted everyone and stamped their hands with the distinctive logo - "The Club".

The five bands all had their own style. They were introduced and given thirty minutes to perform. Some played heavy metal; others, good old rock-n-roll.

The first band to perform was "Snow Dog". The other bands, Caravan, Ultimate Passion, Outlet, and Detour stood by, waiting with anticipation.

As the night wore on, the bands played their music with the hopes of having that "special formula" needed to charm the judges and excite their fans.

As the talented musicians played, everyone gathered around and anxiously waited for the decision of the judges. It was not an easy task, all the bands were great.

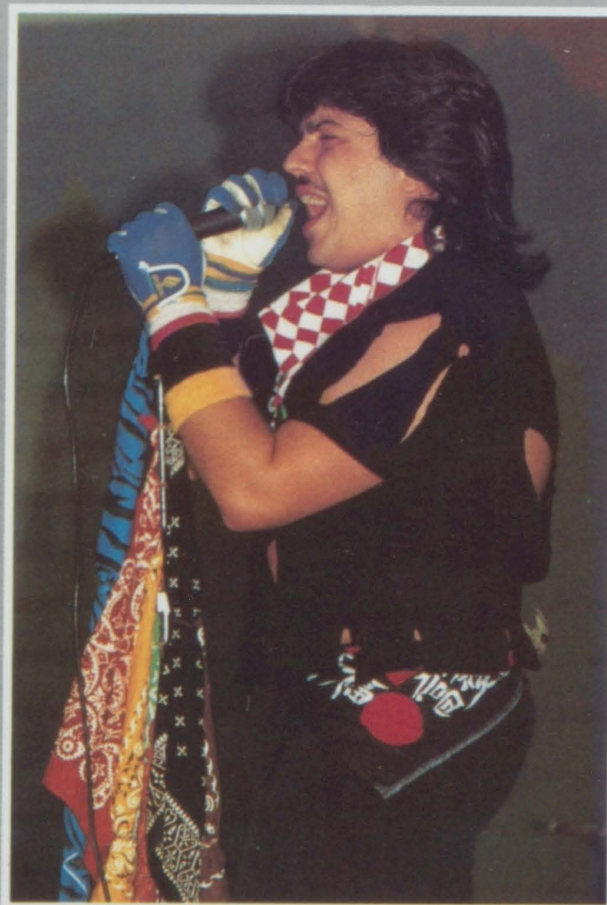

Finally, Emilio Mourao, master of ceremonies, announced the winners. "Snow Dog" placed third with "Detour" second and "Caravan" first.

About 11:30 p.m., everyone began to leave behind a very memorable night as well as a little history; The Battle of the

ACADEMICS

All through our lives we will depend on our education, an education which we attain only through many hours of hard work and effort. We will someday look back on all those hours spent hovering over a typewriter working on those dreaded term papers as well as nights spent cramming for finals and realize that it was all worth it.

The sparkling diversity of subjects offered at East Side enables us to develop such outstanding qualities, as hard work, self-discipline and perseverance, that epitomize the very essence and spirit of our school.

East Side's academic diversity has grown throughout the years and there are many events which have helped make our years memorable; such as Mr. Molinaro's famous tee-shirt with the quadratic formula printed on it, which will leave its mark in our memory bank. Or those times in foods class with Mrs. Johnson, when fifteen minutes could be spent trying to remove lumps from the pancake batter only to realize that they were part of the batter.

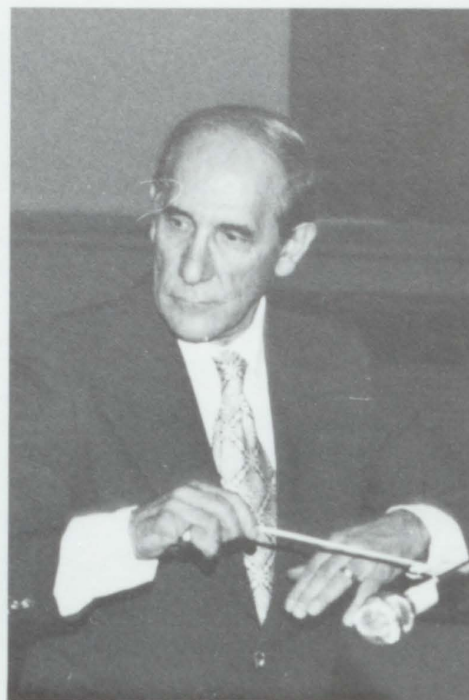

At East Side, we value highly the various opportunities presented to us through our academic program. We look forward to the challenges ahead in the hope that our future will only be endowed with sparkling promises.

SPRING CONCERT

That Fabulous Night

This year, the music department, along with the winterguard, presented a spring concert. It was held on June 12th, 1985, both in the auditorium and the gym.

The students were seated on the stage, and the orchestra began the show with the playing of the national anthem.

As the concert progressed, the band, directed by Mr. Sutura and Mr. Cleveland, delighted the audience with such songs as, Through The Years, Time After Time, Holding Out For A Hero and Flash Dance.

In order to put together such super entertainment requires many hours of practice and hard work on the part of both music teachers and band members.

The music department offers East Siders a chance to develop both their interests and abilities by offering choices of bands, such as rock or jazz, in which to play.

During intermission, Mr. Sutura and Mr. Cleveland were presented with awards of appreciation from the students. They were more than pleased to accept their awards, but they said, "Credit for the music performed belongs to the students". They acknowledged and applauded the students for their performance.

Finally, the jazz band played the last song and everyone proceeded to the gym for an interesting performance by the winterguard.

As far as everyone was concerned, the winterguard's performance was a perfect ending to a spectacular evening.

Keeping to the beat, Michael Delikat enlivens the presentation.

English Takes A New Step

As the new year started, the English department added one more class to the twelfth grade curriculum. The English Advanced Placement class, or English AP as it is commonly referred to, was established for a select group of seniors; those who had demonstrated their abilities in their three previous years of English.

Unlike the other honor classes, this class was established to present a more college-like atmosphere. Students are being geared towards a collegiate way of learning, with more lectures and more reading. Mr. DiFrancesco was chosen to teach this class and underwent a series of classes at Manhattan College in order to become more acquainted with this new material. Mr. DiFrancesco's ideas were quickly put into motion as his class began to read more and more novels. Writing is also a vital part of this class and Mr. DiFrancesco soon dictated countless essay topics.

This program was set up in order to help East Side seniors adjust to the rigorous and sometimes overwhelming freshman year of English at college. The class is not very large, however, with Mr. DiFrancesco's help and encouragement along with the tenacity and dedication of the students, this pioneer program will definitely encase itself within the regular English classes that a graduating senior may become a part of.

High Tech

At the end of Junior year, East Side acquired three new machines. These machines, called Lanier Word Processors, were bought to teach word processing in the Secretarial and Office Practice classes. The acquisition of these new machines was made possible by the state, through the funding of this new project.

These machines are used in double period classes. Mrs. Ruggeri's classes are now using the machines in order to expand their knowledge of business skills. However, with only three machines the students must take turns using the equipment, but the Business department is expecting ten additional IBM PC's in order to ease the demand. The machines are very versatile and can be used to teach additional subjects such as accounting and other business related topics. Mrs. Ruggeri hopes to see word processing taught as a separate class in the near future.

The new machines resemble computers, but they are much easier to use. Like a computer, disks are used, but these disks show how to use the computers and give exams as well. Manuals come along with the new equipment and many new and different ideas can be put onto the screen. The Business Department is expanding the field of business technology for all business students and with the help of the "newest" technology, the students are well equipped for the future.

Mrs. Ruggeri's business class gets ready to begin the day's assignments.

Lucy Garganta waits for the information she needs to come on the screen.

Develop- ing Old Skills

This year at East Side, a new program was launched in order to help students. The Basic Skills program, which is federal and state funded, was formed in order to assist students who needed extra help in reading and mathematical skills. This program is geared toward all students who need help, regardless of their grade, and is based on CTBS and MBS scores.

Mr. Scardeli, who launched this program, is very positive about the program's success. He thinks if the student really wants to learn, this program will be a definite help. These classes are geared to help the individual and enable the students to work at their own pace, with the student slowly building up their own skills. The students are tested frequently and are aided with audio visual materials.

As the year concludes, a student may be released from this program if they achieve a certain score above the cut-off rate. With all the dedication and hard work put into this program, it will definitely succeed. As Mr. Scardeli says, "If you think, you will survive."

Explaining the assignment, Mrs. Young tries to involve everyone in the classroom lesson.

SPORTS

Sports at East Side are a very important part of our school life, and we are very competitive in a variety of athletic events.

Our soccer team opened the sports season and showed how proficient they were when it came to winning one title after another. The football team also proved themselves winners this year and champs to be reckoned with.

East Side's track team has won a variety of local as well as national titles and competitions such as the Penn State Relays, several meets in Washington, D.C., and a special track event in San Antonio, Texas.

In the winter months, our ice hockey team, along with the boys' and girls' basketball teams also showed a fighting "spirit."

As Spring arrived, our golf and tennis teams practiced long and hard for action on both the course and court.

The baseball team once again took another City League Championship after competing against all the other teams in the district.

Our well conditioned athletes are really the biggest reason that our teams have developed such winning ways.

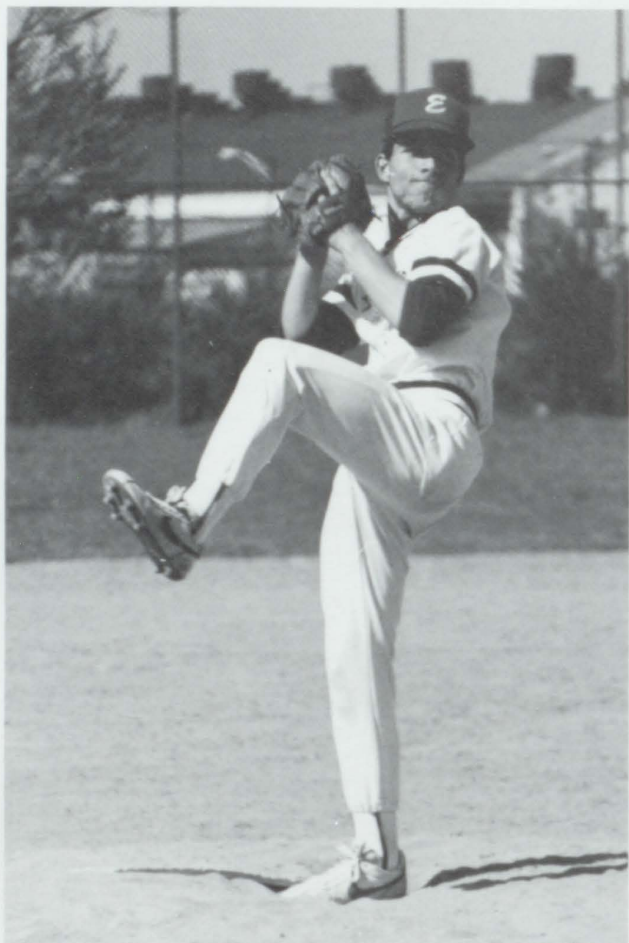

Regardless of the season, when our athletes competed for various district, state, and national titles, we began to get caught up in the grip of East Side's "Sports Fever."

Victory Again!

Team Proves Their Worth

Ace pitcher Carlos Cruz winds up to let loose one of his heaters.

The baseball team went into the 1985 season thinking that this would be a "rebuilding" year. Due to the fact that many players were Seniors who graduated, Coach Blasi had thoughts of platooning the new members of the team in order for them to gain experience.

But to the surprise of many, the players came through with hard work and determination, plus a winning attitude.

This enabled the team to come away with the City League Championship under their belts while posting an outstanding 11-1 record.

Coach Blasi said, "that the key to many of the victories and eventually the winning of the championship was the attitude of the players. The players' outlook for each game was, Let's go out there and get them, and that's just what they did."

The most outstanding players on the team were Carlos Cruz, whose 7-3 record led the team, and Angelo Sanchez, who had a 6-5 record. Between these two athletes, they carried the team by pitching twenty-one out of twenty-five games that were played.

Offensively, Angelo Sanchez and Jose Alvarado tied for the team lead with .410 batting averages and Carlos Cruz had a good year at the plate finishing at .374.

The highlight of the year came at the end of the season when, Carlos Cruz, Angelo Sanchez and Jose Alvarado were elected to the All-City first team, and Carlos Cruz was elected to the All-County team, honors which are only given to truly outstanding athletes.

Coach Blasi is looking forward to the return of starters Herlander Amorin and Jose Alvarado. Along with them, there will be many players competing to make the starting team. "If these new starters play with the same attitude as the old starters, I am sure another City Championship is waiting in the wings for the baseball team," Coach Blasi said.

Battling Back

Year of Contradictions

1985 has proved to be a year of tremendous contradiction and excitement for the East Side Softball Team. This incredible team has battled back from last place in the City League, because of earnest concentration and extreme dedication.

This team of hard working athletes, coached by Ms. Werner, tied with Weequahic High in the final City League game of the season. They settled for third place at 9-4-1 behind Barringer High and Vailsburgh High, who tied for first place and the championship.

When asked about the team, Coach Werner replied, "I attribute the success of this year's team to two major factors: The players from last year who gained experience in their losses of a year ago and to the addition of new players with talent". Coach Werner seemed to be ecstatic about the drive and determination that her team has shown in putting that losing season behind them and giving East Side a softball team to be proud of.

East Side had to settle for third place this year. However, there are a few extra special highlights of the 1985 season. Senior Aileen Molina was voted to the "All-City" team for her outstanding performance at third base and senior Adrianna Vasquez was elected to the "All-City" and "All-County" teams for her spectacular display of talent in the outfield.

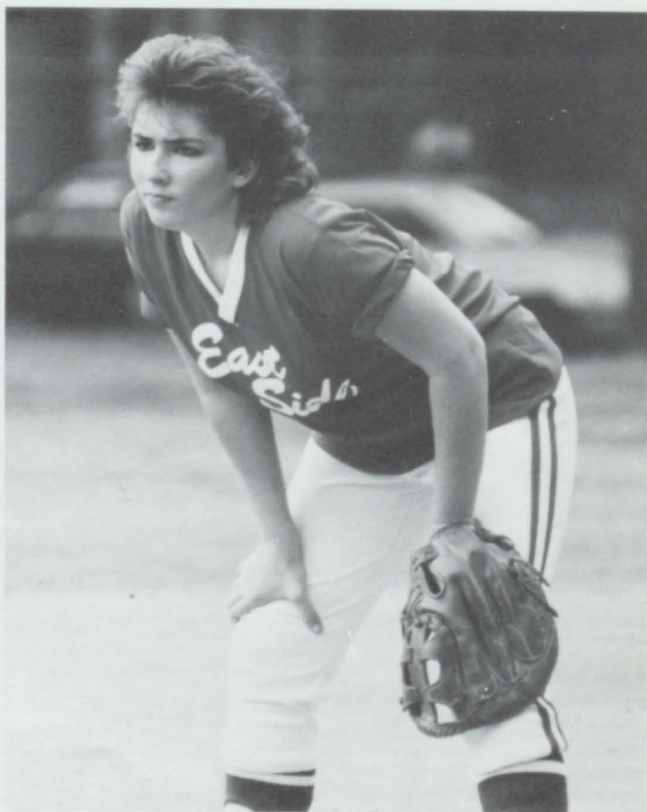

All in all, the East Side Softball Team has shown that they have the ability to be winners. We are sure that this team will continue their winning style while striving for the top.

Giving It Their All

Developing Style, Poise

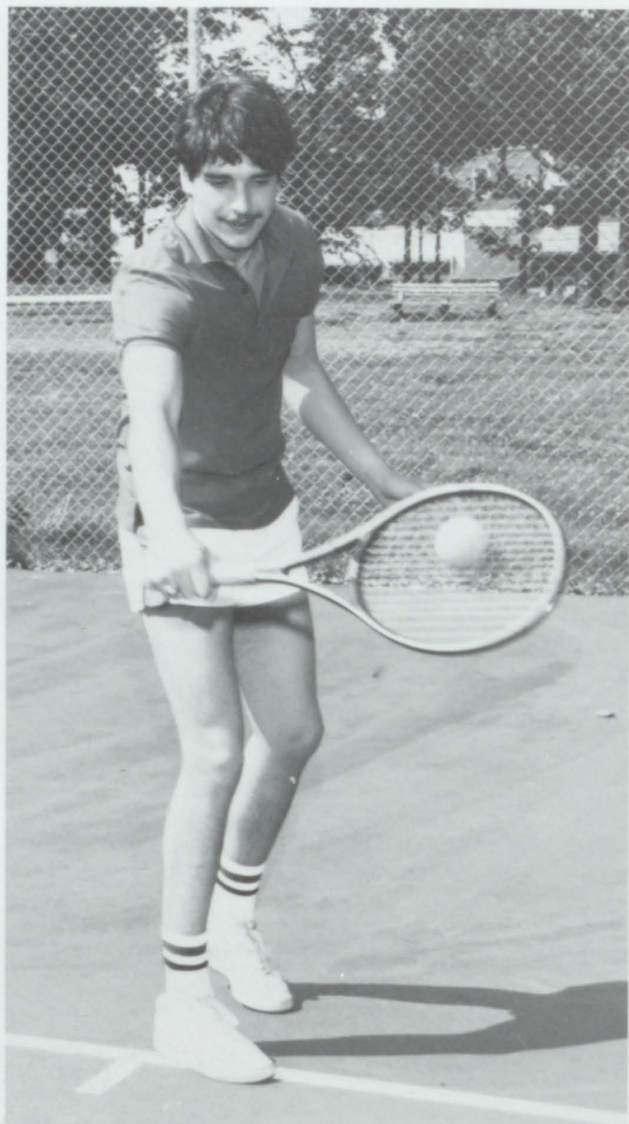

The tennis team has been battling all year to stay competitive. Each player has contributed a certain amount of style and poise to the team. These hard-working athletes have proved that they have a lot of potential and can beat just about anyone.

Captain Paul Carlos gives experience and dedication to the team as does Tony Moreira. Both of these co-captains also add leadership as well as motivation for the team to go out and do their best by thinking. "I am a winner."

Although the team does not have a most valuable player award, Paul Carlos said, "if they did, Sam Lee would be given this distinction. He has put 100% into everything he does and has lead the team to many of their victories."

Other members of the team include, Tony Lobo, and Fernando Franco who offered a little experience of their own and helped the team to win.

An 'Up to Par' Season

The golf team, although having gotten off to a slow start, pulled together to get "up-to-par" and finish with an even 4-4 record. The team showed its talent and the desire to win as they turned their season around.

Led by Captain Lee Brown, the Essex County singles' champion, the team proved to be among the best in the county. However, Lee Brown, was not the only team member who showed a championship performance. Mike Hernandez constantly challenged him for the "top spot" and the best showing.

Other members of the team included Juniors, Leon Philips and Dwight Thomas, who showed tremendous amounts of talent and experience. With these added talents, our golf team will be right up there for a city championship, one that will be long overdue and well deserved, in the opinion of this writer.

This year's team benefited from the help of outstanding members like Garland Jones, and Larry Williams, all adding their talents and abilities to help make the golf team winners.

Running In Style

Racing to Many Victories

The tradition continued for the outdoor track team. Most athletes find it difficult to excel in both academics and in sports, but our runners have exceeded their abilities in the classroom and in track throughout the state. When these tremendous athletes joined the team, they had one thing in mind and that was to be "the best". They have proved that they are among the best in the country numerous times.

Outstanding Seniors, who have broken many records in their four years at East Side are: Manny Santos, Paul Santos, Joao Acabou, Lino Pereira, Paulo Gomes, Jimmy Taylor, William Powell and Alberto Ruiz. These runners have had numerous races both in the States of New Jersey and New York.

The girls' team consists of three exceptional runners, Rosa Domingues, Nela Resende and Annie Resende. They are so determined to be "the best" that they train alongside the boys to improve their strength and speed.

Both teams earn one victory after another. Every individual has endured much hard work and frustration and put in many hours of their spare time to achieve such goals and records.

Other members that made the track team winners are: Julio Rivera, Todd Williams, Carlos Gafanha, Joel Araudo, Joao Paul Sousa, Robin Kunz, Ana Cravo, Yvette Mosqueda and Maria Quazada.

The mile relay, distance medley and two mile relay were ranked among the top three in the state. In addition to regular season meets, the team also proved their expertise in races held in Washington, D.C., San Antonio, Texas, and the ever popular Penn Relays in Philadelphia, Pa.

The track team has always been a winner and with the talent they have, will continue to be winners in the future.

Rosa Dominguez holds onto the lead with Ana Cravo at a steady third as they come down the home stretch.

Jubilant Celebration

Team Comes Away With Winning Season

This season, the football team has played better than any previous team. The team has battled all year to build a reputation for having pride in what they do and that is "East Side Pride"!

The Seniors and leaders of the team are getting what they have been dreaming about; a winning season before they graduate.

Kyro Inman and Victor Cruz shared the duties at the quarterback and running-back positions. Their sparkling passing and running techniques helped to lead East Side to one victory after another. Other players who contributed to the attack were; Paul Alves, who played the linebacker position on defense and the tight end position on offense; Herlander Amorin, who also played linebacker, doubled as the team's punter; Doug Odom was sparkling at linebacker and at guard. Fernando Linhares was an all-around player at center, guard, and defensive end. Jose Cunha played outside linebacker, Renaldo Hernandez played defensive tackle, William Powell played tackle, Leon Phillips played cornerback and Joseph Bezak played on special teams.

The defense proved to be very agile while cutting down plays before they even had a chance to get started. The offense was constantly finding new ways to outmaneuver the opponents defense and go in for the score.

The team deserves congratulations on a job well-done. They were the under-dog, but still managed to come out on top time after time.

Hard Work

Great Potential Shown

This year's soccer team can be considered one of the best ever.

Although losing the City Championship game to Vailsburg High, our athletes showed great form and a fighting spirit.

In the game with Vailsburg, East Side kept control of the ball for just about the entire contest but failed to score on numerous opportunities that were created.

East Side has played some very experienced teams this year, which made it very difficult to come out on top as the team has so often done before.

Players who have shown outstanding abilities were co-captains Richard Agostinho and Manny Silva. Also, goalkeeper Miguel Pinho was always ready to make those saves.

These individuals gave the team that needed "spark" to win on many occasions. They held the players together and helped show what teamwork was all about.

The team made a positive effort to become winners, thus showing their strength.

An Uphill Climb For Perfection

The 1985-86 basketball team has brought much excitement to the school. Their record is not outstanding, but the potential they possess could carry them through tournament action. Many players have contributed to the team's victories including: Seniors, Victor Crews, who started at guard, Paul Alves, who started at forward and is a backup at guard, Albert Green, who was the sixth man off the bench at forward, Luis Soto, who played guard off the bench and Leon Phillips, who was the backup at center.

Other players that deserve mentioning are: starting forward Danen Hicks (Soph.), starting forward Kevin Miller (Junior), and starting guard Mark Inman (Junior).

Together the players, along with Coach Duggan, have developed a winning attitude and an extreme desire to play.

This sparkling team has played some good ball on the court and we are confident that this will continue into the county and state tournaments.

After a quick pass inside, forward Danen Hicks scores a short jumper rather easily.

Excitement On Ice

Ice Hockey Team wins/ Major Championship

The East Side Ice Hockey Team has improved tremendously over the past two years. Previously, they had won a major division championship, but they have turned that streak for the better by winning two championships in the last two years.

This sport was introduced into our extra-curricular activities in 1970. Since then, the team has built itself up and has become stronger and stronger every year. One result of this is the winning of the 1983-84 C Division Championship and the 1984-85 Handchen Cup, an award that is given to the Champion of the American Conference play-offs.

The most outstanding player on this exciting team must be Ronnie Blozen. His amazing play at Center and his phenomenal scoring ability has led East Side to many victories. Ronnie was the captain of the team and was also elected to the All-State second team at the center position.

Another outstanding player is Todd Blozen. His great 2.49 goals-against average has held many teams to very few scores and helped lead the team to victory.

In my opinion, one other player should be mentioned. His name is Carlos Rodriguez. Although he had not started off every game, his outstanding play on the ice, whenever called on, was among the best on the team. He should be commended for his play and his leadership as co-captain of the team.

However, with all of the talent that this team has, much credit should go to Coach Thomas Wichowski, whose leadership and guidance has inspired, as well as motivated, the team to become the winners that they are now.

Driving in for the shot, Isabel Ribeiro takes yet another shot.

Rebounding Season

Girls' Post Best Record

The girls' basketball team has played extremely well this year as compared to previous years. They finished the season with a 4-8 record, which is the best record ever posted by our team.

The team has improved itself and has "gained some respect due to the hustle of each team member" over the past year, said Coach Tosun. The girls have worked out very hard and have held many practice sessions to improve as they have throughout the season.

Seniors Shelley Evans, Fawn Ross, Crystal Norris and Aileen Molina have contributed greatly to the teams' success.

A special mention should be given to newly-found center, Isabel Ribeiro. Since joining the team, she has played outstanding ball while also adding to the talent already possessed by the team.

All in all, the team has developed a reputation to win and is sure to have a city championship in their future.

CLUBS

Examining the history of East Side High School, we realize that the first club to begin here was the school newspaper. It was called the "Orient", and the main force behind the activity was the school's principal, Mr. Kennedy.

Other clubs soon followed such as, the Arts and Crafts Club, which was formed for those students who wanted to extend their education in manual work.

A girls' Glee club and boys' Glee club were also formed to give students the opportunity to show their music ingenuity.

Through the years, clubs and activities have changed because of the various interests of the student body.

Whether it is student government, Higher Math or Civics, East Siders have a variety of clubs that they may participate in. Some clubs allow members to be of service in their school, their community or their peers.

Students are always encouraged to join a club as long as such activities do not interfere with schoolwork.

Experiencing this aspect of school life adds another dimension to a student's personal growth, as well as interest and sparkle to our years at East Side.

Let The Fun Begin

Lazy, hot summer days are all but memories during the winter blues, yet East Siders still manage to bring back the lively laughter and cheerfulness of those by-gone days. Maybe the sun and sand are missing, but a "Splash Party" is the next best replacement and with Football season action so close, who could resist going to watch the East Side team bring home a victory.

As the Seniors await graduation, we manage to fill our time with zany excitement and unexpected surprises. Our Splash Party provided the perfect excuse to go a little wild before June. As we drove to the Holiday Inn on Route 1 & 9, we anxiously awaited the time when we would be together, splashing around in the Olympic size swimming pool.

The heated pool and wonderful buffet made the evening worthwhile. While in the pool, we were able to brush up on our swimming skills as well as the proper way to splash each other. An exciting game of water football was formed, and it was quite challenging trying to tackle people in a pool. Relay races were also a part of the fun, as we desperately struggled to reach the other end of the pool.

As the evening came to a close, we all went into our saunas to change, a hint of sadness was in the air; we were sad about leaving, but soon our eyes sparkled as we learned about plans for another party.

For those who prefer outdoor activity, East Side football games provide just the right kind of excitement. We look forward to attending the games so that we can cheer the team on. While at a football game, one can not help but notice an Indian running around the stands and near the field. Could this be Tonto? No, this is East Side's very own Indian mascot. Actually, it is just a costume worn by Clifford Williams.

Our little Indian gets the spectators to join him in cheering the team on. With his unique moves and actions, Clifford entertains the crowd as well as boosts school spirit. As the East Side Colorguard and Marching Band wave that East Side Banner, you can be sure that East Side's Mascot will be there leading the way.

1986 Torch In The Making

While some students are still snug in their beds at 7:30 in the morning, yearbook staff members are hard at work seeking to produce a quality yearbook that will document and present the best East Side has to offer in sports, academics, clubs/activities, faculty and students.

Since East Side is celebrating its 75th Anniversary this year, the staff members decided that the theme, "1986 Sparkles with Diamonds" was appropriate for this jubilee. The theme is carried throughout the yearbook as different aspects of school life in the past and in the present are contrasted.

A tremendous amount of hard work and dedication is required to complete each section. Responsible for body copy and captions for the pictures, editors must also comply with deadlines, while also handling outside pressures of schoolwork and other activities.

The devotion and efficiency of these individuals is evident as one flips through this permanent record of East Side Memories: the 1986 Torch.

"The Envelope Please . . ."

In the fall of 1985, East Side's Winterguard proudly presented the 1st Annual Homecoming Queen Dance. Many contestants participated in this event. The requirements were as follows: each contestant was to submit an application along with a photo and a brief biography. A "C" average was also to be maintained by each "senior" contestant.

Friday night came far too soon although the contestants were anxiously awaiting the special day to arrive. The ceremony itself, which was to be held in the cafeteria, began to fill up as the contestants were making some last minute touch-ups.

At last the moment had finally arrived. Dr. Grant, director of the East Side Winterguard, began the evening with a few words of welcome. He then turned the microphone over to Jo Ann Rodriguez, M.C. for the evening. She began the night's events with a brief summary explaining the credentials necessary to be crowned Miss Homecoming Queen 1985. The contestants were to be judged on their ability to express themselves, poise and appearance.

As the judging began each contestant was simultaneously asked, "Why do you wish to become Miss Homecoming Queen of 1985?" As this important question was being answered by each contestant, Mr. Gould and Mr. Hughling, judges for the evening began tallying the results.

At long last the time had come to introduce our special guest for the evening, Mr. Antonio Fargas, better known for his role as Huggy Bear on Starsky & Hutch. He was introduced and was very well received by the audience.

Votes were tabulated and decisions made. Tension mounted as everyone waited for the winner to be announced. Jo Ann Rodriguez was ready to announce the winner. "The Envelope Please

..." The results were as follows: 2nd runner - Maria Pereira, 1st runner up - Nanette Blaszk and Miss Homecoming Queen of 1985 Yolanda Rodriguez. Tears of joy were shared by all as Yolanda received a bouquet of flowers and the traditional crown. Each contestant also received flowers. An exciting evening ended when Miss Homecoming Queen of 1985 had the opportunity to dance with Mr. Fargas.

The entire Homecoming Queen Dance has been taped and anyone who was unable to attend can relive the enjoyment that was shared by all on the cable network.

Making Wishes Come True

East Side Cheerleaders, a team which certainly demonstrates school spirit, dedication and caring, became involved in an activity aimed at helping others.

The event, which summarizes all of the above characteristics was held on May 18, 1985, in Lyndhurst, New Jersey.

On this date, our cheerleaders took part in a charity softball game to raise money in order to fulfill the wishes of terminally ill children.

The cheerleaders became involved in this event when Mrs. Savidis, advisor, suggested that the members enter a state - wide cheer writing contest. Finishing in 1st place allowed them to cheer for the team of N.J.C.P.A.'s, who were playing against the Z - 100 radio station team.

Captain Alnisa Horsley stated, "Everyone was very enthusiastic since the game was for such a great cause." Throughout the game, the cheerleaders demonstrated their enthusiasm through their routines, cheers and smiles. With such great support backing up the C.P.A. team, the victory was definitely in their hands.

The cheerleaders, who had a wonderful time, felt this was a very rewarding experience for all involved and welcomed the chance to add sparkle to a child's heart.

Football season has always been the time for the East Sider's to show their school spirit and the colorguard is no exception. Together the flags, sabres, and rifles along with the marching band, provide entertainment for the spectators who come and cheer the football team on during half-time.

Although it only takes 5 to 10 minutes to complete their routine, many hours of practice precede this important routine. Only then do all the long hours of rehearsal come to fruition. Proudly displaying their red & white uniforms, East Side's colorguard marches with exactness and rhythm. Twirling maneuvers are displayed to the beat of the band. Songs like "She Works Hard for the Money" and "Land of Make Believe" are played as entertainment for the crowd.

Through rain, sleet or snow, East Side's Colorguard and Marching Band have always found a way to arrive at these football games on time and give their support. As we all know, long hours of practice are necessary to achieve perfection and East Side's Colorguard and Marching Band are certainly examples of hard work and dedication.

Most of the clubs here at East Side offer a temporary break from books and tests by providing the students with the opportunity to pursue other interests. Yet, few clubs focus primarily on the physical development of the student. Four clubs dedicated to this cause are the Ski Club, the Track Club, The Weights/Universal Gym Club, and the Sportsman Club. Participating in these clubs enables the members to acquire hands-on experience in a non-competitive atmosphere, while also enjoying themselves in club sponsored activities.

The Ski Club sure knows how to escape the reality of school life and enjoy a mini-vacation. Frolicking on the snow covered slopes of Vermont, the Ski Club members can tone up on their skiing skills on the various trips planned throughout the year. For those members unfamiliar with the sport, it can prove to be a worthwhile challenge.

Track Club members assist the cross country and track program by sponsoring fundraisers such as the "Body Building Contest", the "Final Exam Jam Dance", and their annual sale of birthday calendars. They provide the track runners with moral support and encouragement they need to attain victory.

The main purpose of the Weights/Universal Gym Club is to teach the members of the club proper methods of weight lifting. This club motivates students to strengthen their bodies while developing coordination and balance.

For those who appreciate this country's natural resources, the Sportsmans Club can be a very positive experience. Activities include fishing trips to Sandy Hook and to the "Butts 'n' Bows" for archery shooting.

As we continued our High School years, we took part in many activities and began to realize that they soon became a major part of our school life. No matter what special interest you had, there was something for everyone. From the Computer Club to the Portuguese Club, there was a variety of organizations to choose from. By becoming involved in more activities, we realized that some of them were the extension of our very own hobbies.

The Computer Club offers a great opportunity for students who are interested in Computers and how they work. Members are responsible for filing the data pertaining to Senior ranking. They are also credited with the printing of personalized, special occasion cards. Every year, members visit the AT & T research center where they are informed about the latest technological advancements in computers.

Math can be very entertaining and the Higher Math Club is out to prove it. This club covers various areas of math not normally covered in a regular math class. Members take part in various projects such as magic squares, topology and networks. When the project is completed they may acquire extra credit in their math classes.

The Dungeons and Dragons Club is for those who want to use their vivid imagination in playing a simulation game. If challenge is what you're looking for, this club has it. Activities include the play of the game, as well as dances and fund-raisers. Contests are sponsored and awards are given for the astuteness of game play and imagination.

Interests

If Hispanic culture fascinates you, the Aspira Club is the place to be. Here, one is able to study in depth the Hispanic traditions. This year the club visited "El Museo Del Barrio" in N.Y., a museum created to display Hispanic History. The club has sponsored this year's "Latin Night" dance and several fund-raisers.

The Black Heritage Club gears its studies to the history of the Black society in America. Each year, members of the club sponsor the Martin Luther King Dinner Dance and awards ceremony. They are also responsible for the Dr. King assembly program, held to honor his memory and many contributions.

For those who want to develop their knowledge of the Portuguese Language and learn about its customs, the Portuguese Club offers it all. Members expand their knowledge on the Portuguese culture. An annual picnic at Shepherd Lake is their main event. For all the hard work and dedication, a Portuguese Scholarship is given to the best student in Portuguese.

The French Club offers the opportunity to study and practice French customs. The club plans to visit the Toulouse-Lautrec exhibit at the Museum of Modern Art. Together with the Portuguese Club, they will attend the year end picnic. Their main event will be a trip to Quebec, Canada.

We have the opportunity to offer our services to better our "home away from home". From the Servettes Club to the Portuguese Literary Magazine, these clubs concern themselves with making East Side the best it can be.

The Servettes Club is an organization in which members help at various school functions. Seminars are held to improve leadership skills and workshops are given in order to enhance the students abilities for various jobs. Members give assistance wherever they are needed.

If library assistance is what you need, you can always depend on the members of the Library Club. These students volunteer to help the librarians check books in and out and shelve them during their lunch hour. When a librarian is unavailable, members help students look for materials such as books, films, and magazines. The Library Club is a perfect example of "students helping students" at East Side.

The Civics Club offers students the opportunity to develop pride for themselves, school and community. This club is credited with various fund-raisers such as the Christmas Dance and the Battle of the D.J.'s Dance. Money is donated to deserving school organizations who may need financial assistance. An end of the year dinner is sponsored and special awards are given to outstanding members of the club.

Service

The responsibility for the representation of students falls on the shoulders of the Student Council. The students must strike that delicate balance between the want of students and what the school administration believes are their needs. As spokes persons for the entire student body, the Student Council offers their ideas and suggestions from the student point of view. The Council does its best to help our school run more efficiently and effectively.

The newspaper staff is credited with the writing of the school newspaper. This year "The Announcer" had a new look with a change of printes. The members report school events to keep the students informed about current events. The Announcer covers a wide variety of topics such as dances, sports, seniors and their very own comic section. Members of the staff work hard to produce an interesting paper.

To develop the mastery of the Portuguese language on a writing level, the Portuguese Literary magazine offers you the opportunity to write in Portuguese. This year, the club plans to have at least two issues published. A special luncheon with the students from Saddle Brook High School will take place during the course of the year. The club offers students the chance to use their bilingual talents in written form and share them with the entire school.

Victory Is Ours

No one ever imagined that the East Side Winterguard would attain such a degree of professionalism or maintain that champion aura that has made it one of the most successful organizations in our school. Begun five years ago, the Winterguard continues to climb the ladder of success. As the only school in Newark to have a Winterguard, East Side dares to defy anyone who feels that nothing worthwhile ever comes from this city.

To be a member requires discipline and determination. Practicing six days a week for three hours, and competing on Saturdays, can take a toll on anyone, but our Winterguard members are totally dedicated to this activity.

The exciting show is performed on a gym floor to the sound of recorded music consisting of "Two Tribes", "Don't Stop", "Relight My Fire", and "You Spin Me Round Like A Record". Twirling the equipment, the flags, rifles, and sabres simultaneously execute special body movements and dance steps. The drill instructors, Keith Cornick and Mel Hampton, are responsible for the routines.

The uniform, designed by Keith Cornick, consists of red pants, a white satin jacket accented with red cuffs and collar with a blue front-piece, and a black sash. This colorful uniform compliments the decorations on the equipment and the multi-colored silks on the flags.

Competitions begin in January and last until the month of April, culminating with the final event: the Championship. The guard competes in two divisions: the EMBA (Eastern Marching Band Association) and MAA (Metro Association of Adjudicators). They were 1984 Novice Class Champs and 1985 Advanced Class Champs, in the EMBA division. Attending the Winterguard Olympics in Dayton, Ohio last year, East Side placed eighth in the nation. Included in their accomplishments are various "Best Flags", "Best Sabres", "Best Rifles" and "Best Commanding Officer" certificates. The guard has also placed first various times this year at EMBA and MAA competitions continuing their success streak.

Multi-talented, each guard member spins a different piece of equipment throughout the show; concluding with a dance pattern while twirling hula hoops.

PEOPLE

The people who we, the graduating class of East Side, will remember the most, will be our teachers. They have guided us through all of our four years of hard work. These teachers have helped us to understand various views on a wide range of subjects that will affect our future careers.

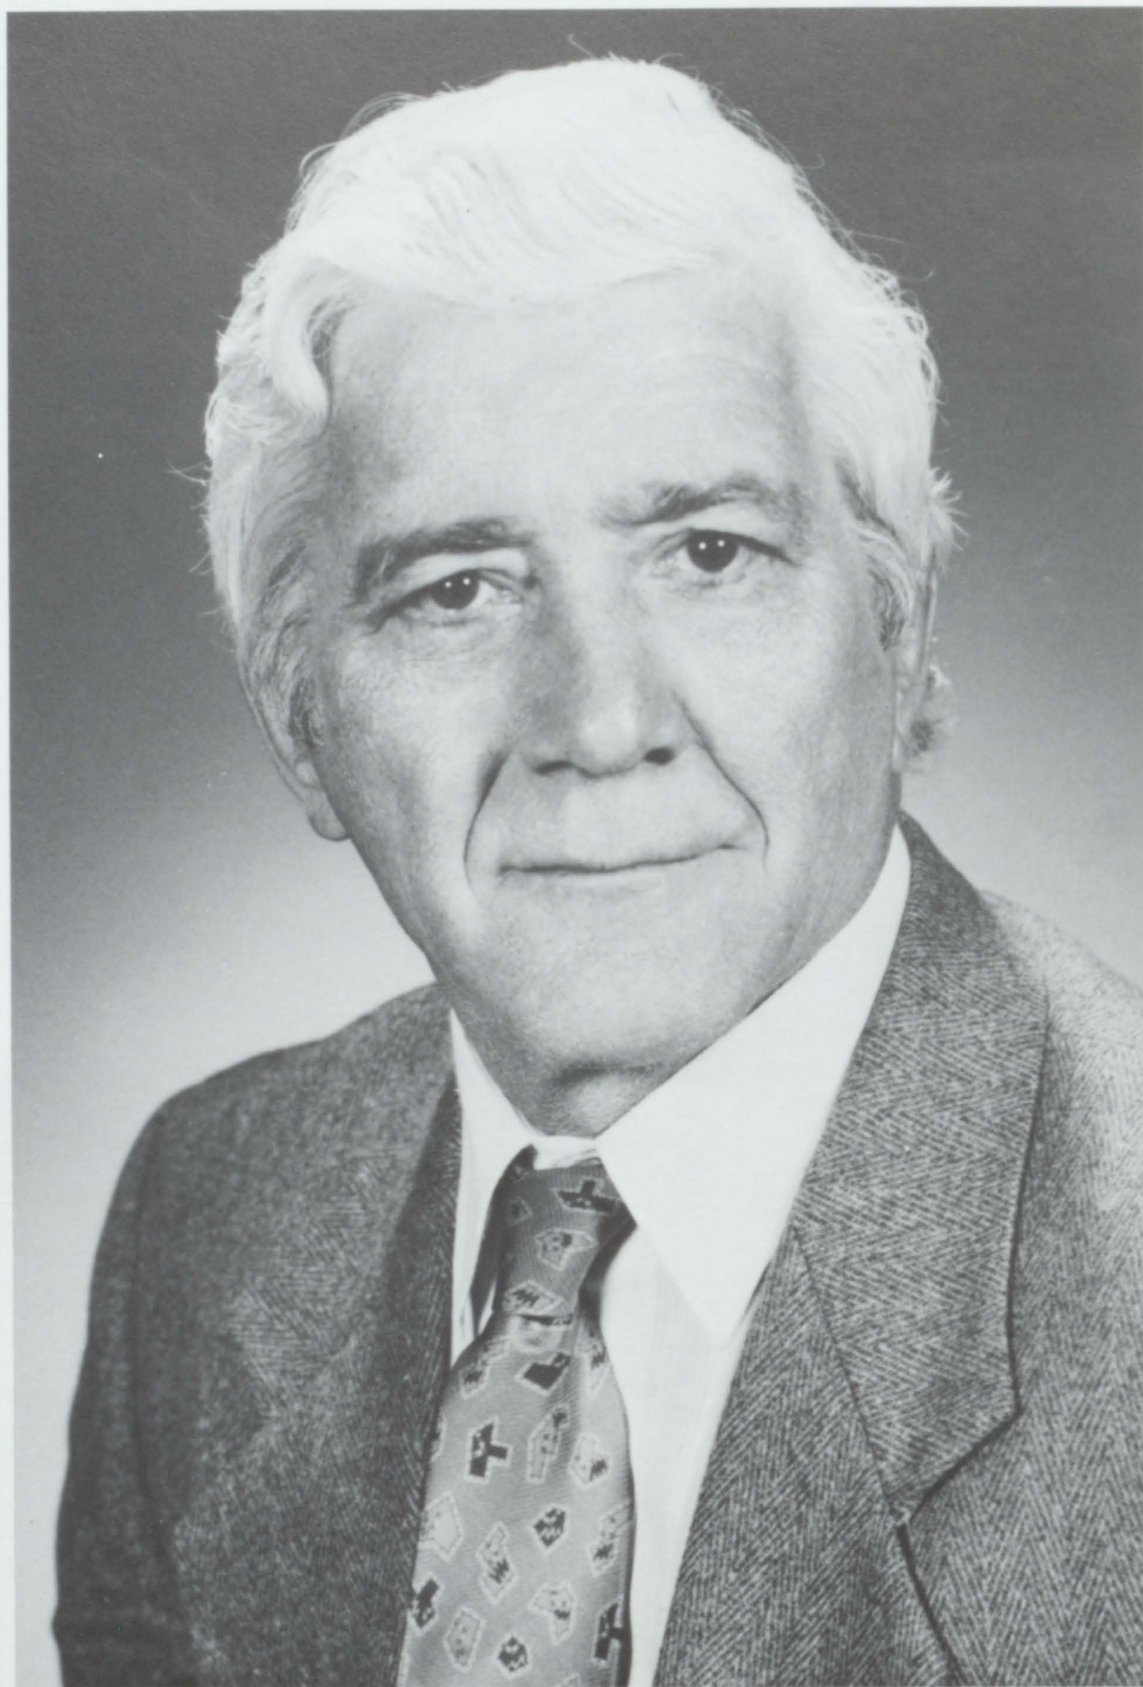

Through the years, we have grown closer to our teachers. They became our friends and were always there to help when needed for that special project to be completed correctly.

East Siders will always remember the Monday mornings when they walked into Miss Tereski's History class. Since she would always have a different poster with a humorous saying to brighten up our day. There will also be all the unforgettable conversations we had in Mr. Chill's Psychology class.

When we look back, we will remember the dedication and understanding our teachers have shown to us.

That same year, he was admitted to the New Jersey Bar and permitted to practice before the Federal District Court of this state.

He also began a private law practice which encompassed all areas of legal work and gave him vast trial experience in both civil and criminal cases.

In 1950, he was admitted to practice before the Southern Federal District Court of New York and in 1956 before the New Jersey Supreme Court.

Experienced in Immigration, Labor, and Maritime Law, Judge Dios, has represented internationally affiliated labor unions.

Besides his numerous professional affiliations, Judge Dios has found time to develop close ties with the Hispanic Community in the state, often serving as founder, adviser and member for various Hispanic organizations.

His Supreme Court committees have included the Task Force on Minority Concerns, Criminal Jury Charges, and Judiciary Relations within the media.

It is with great pride and pleasure that the class of 1986 awards the alumni of Superior Merit to such a concerned, involved distinguished and dedicated Superior Court Judge.

ADMINISTRATORS SET THE MARK

Mr. Wujciak

Our Senior year began with some administrative and staff changes. Mr. Wujciak, Principal, returned to face many challenges this year. Among the challenges, were the creation of a safe environment that would be conducive to the learning process, making sure all graduates are proficient in the Basic Skills and imparting to the students an awareness of their civic responsibilities to themselves and community.

Mr. Wujciak has given his special support to the East Side Opportunity Program, also known as ESOP. This program offers special opportunities to students who are gifted in Math and Science. In addition, plans are being made to obtain grant monies for use by the Business and Technical Departments, enabling these areas to offer programs using State of the Art technologies to all East Siders.

As Mr. Wujciak pursues his responsibilities which include the overall running of the school, he continually consults with his administrative team about any problems and their possible solutions. Sharing his responsibilities is Mrs. Outor, who is in charge of community and public relations.

The administrative team is made up of Vice-Principals and Department Chairpersons. Their duties and responsibilities include disciplining students, keeping clubs and activities running smoothly, meeting with parents when necessary, analyzing test results, identifying those students who may be in need of special programs and generally helping to maintain the high educational standards for which East Side High School is known.

The graduate chapter of the Omega Phi Epsilon Fraternity sponsored a testimonial dinner honoring Newark's Great Achievers in sports.

Among the great achievers recognized for this special honor was our very own, Coach Donato "Pete" DelGuercio.

Coach DelGuercio's career began in 1948 at West Side High School as assistant coach. In 1949, he went to South Side as line coach and began to turn around a mediocre football program, helping to develop one of the finest teams in the state.

As a coach at South Side, the football team won five city championships and in 1966, won the "State Championship" title.

As East Side's Physical Education Department Chairperson, he continues to share his educational and teaching philosophies, which include teamwork and achievement.

We at East Side are proud of Coach DelGuercio and salute him for the many fine contributions he has made to sports in the city of Newark.

DEVELOPING OUR CREATIVITY

The art and music departments offer a friendly atmosphere where teachers try to help students develop their creative talents and abilities.

Through the years, we have worked on many projects such as still life drawings, water-color paintings, pastel portraits, design problems, and have become aware of the printing process by making our own prints.

In photography class we have taken photographs of our community, made photograms, learned how to mix photo-chemicals, develop film and select topics for our photo-essay. This author can still recall how exciting it was to work in the dark-room for the first time.

This has all been accomplished under the instruction and supervision of our talented art teachers.

Our music department is responsible for the band, which is directed by Mr. Cleveland. The band participates with great pride and enthusiasm at pep rallies, football games and various community affairs, such as the annual Day of Portugal Parade held each June.

We also have the chorus and Choir J. They are directed by Mrs. Glover, who also serves as our Senior Class Advisor.

The choir and chorus perform at Holiday and Spring concerts and sing Christmas carols for patients at Saint James Hospital during the holiday season.

With the guidance, support, and instruction of our music teachers, we are able to develop our creative abilities.

The music foundation classes help us to become more appreciative and aware of various types of music. In these classes we are given the opportunity to read about famous composers, such as Strauss, Bach, and Mozart. We are also given the chance to develop our talents and skills through the instrumental classes directed by Mr. Sutura. In these classes, students with the ability and interest can study guitar and violin.

In addition to the various and diverse artistic offerings found in the art and music classes, our student population is also made up of various and diverse ethnic backgrounds.

New students, because of the limited English language proficiencies, are faced with a communication barrier.

Through the efforts and hard work of our bi-lingual teachers, East Siders soon have little difficulty mastering English. This is because our teachers realize our problems with a new language and allow us to work at our own pace. They are very patient and this has proven to be an efficient method in helping us adjust to the new environment. All in all, the bi-lingual programs help create a comfortable learning situation where students become eager to learn their new language and also make new friends.

Skills Needed For Today's World

The Business Department at East Side provides us with a variety of courses that help us prepare for a career in the business world.

For example, many students take the typing course because it is a skill that is very useful in many business situations as well as for personal use.

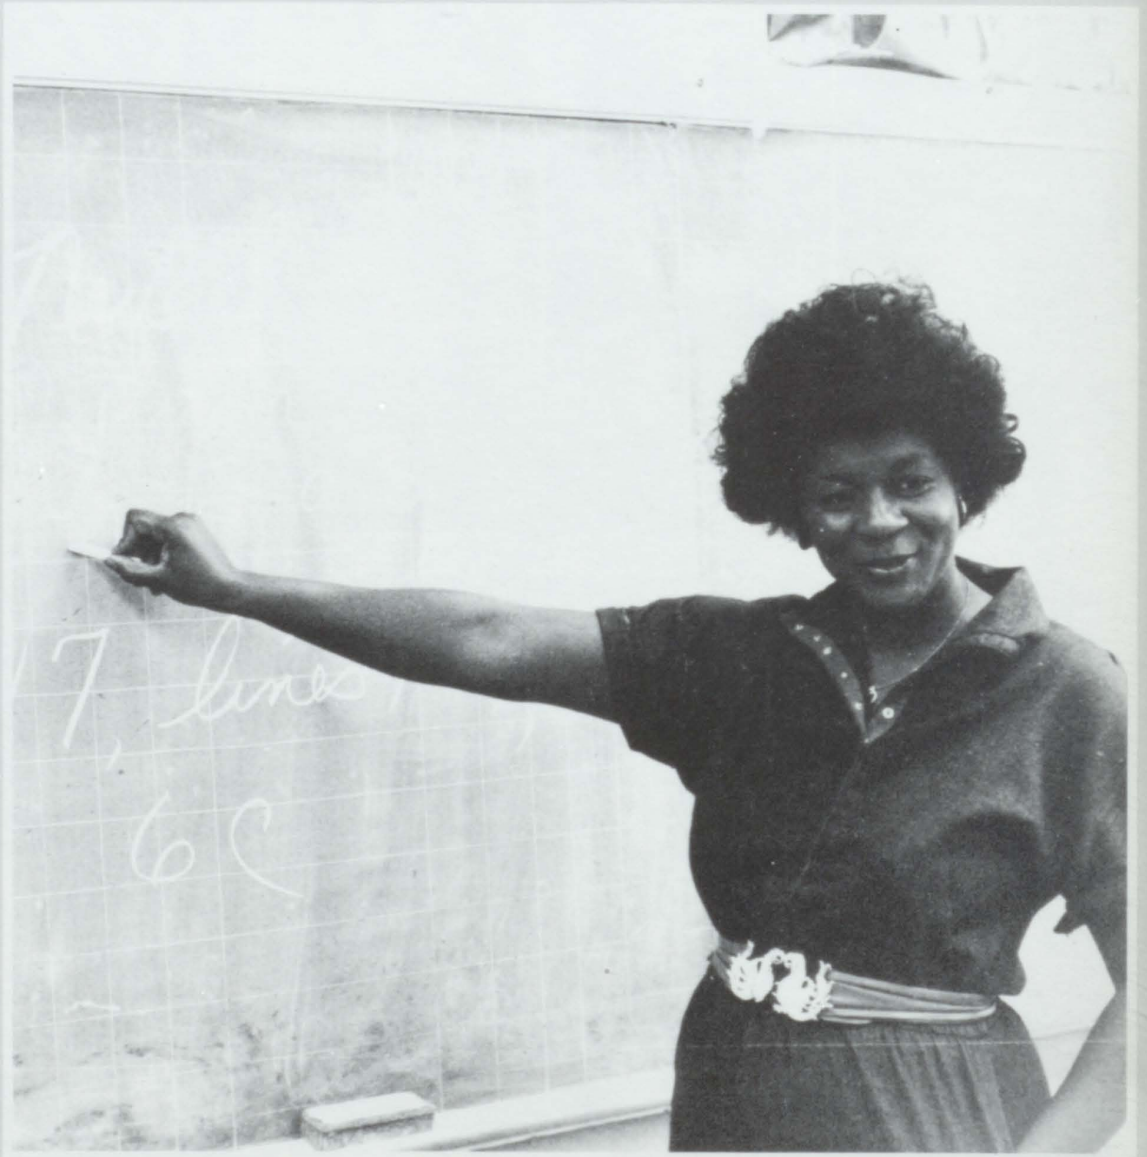

The Business Department this year, has introduced the use of word processors in the secretarial classes. The secretarial classes consist of double periods so that students may take turns practicing on the "Lanier" word processors.

Thus far, there are three Lanier word processors, but the Business Department is expecting ten more IBM PC's in the near future. This will enable many other students to have exposure to the newest technology.

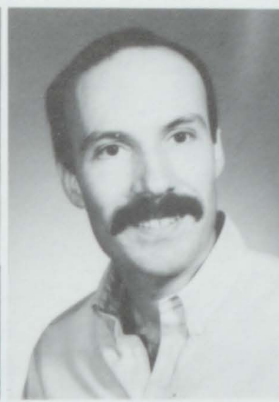

Mrs. Ruggeri said, "In the future, we hope to teach word processing as a separate class. In this way, students will have more time to master the skills needed to operate the processors, and have a better opportunity for jobs in the business world."

WRITING TO OUR HEART'S CONTENT

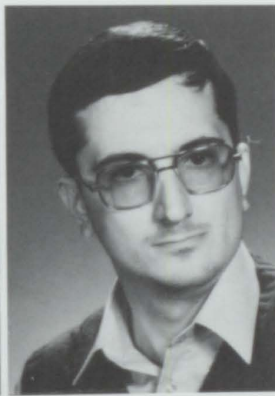

Our English classes have been of great importance in our daily schedules because they are a requirement for graduation.

Our English teachers help us to improve our vocabulary. We learn how to use our new vocabulary in our writing of essays and book reports. With their help, we have been able to enter some of our writings in various essay contests, such as the V.F.W. and the Optimist Club Oratorical Contests. The writers have been awarded not only merit, but also money, plaques and trophies.

We also read and learn about some of the great works by authors such as William Shakespeare, John Steinbeck, Gustav Flaubert and George Orwell. Students have been able to compare and discuss their writing styles. With the help of Mrs. Giantomasi, students have been able to fully understand and enjoy the tragedy of "Macbeth".

In addition to learning about literature, students are given the opportunity to strengthen their skills in vocabulary, analogies, and antonyms. These are the three major areas of the Scholastic Aptitude Test and all Seniors who plan to attend college must take this test. Who will forget the times Mr. D'Errico would stand outside his door and hand us an etymology list as we walked into class?

With all the assistance of our dedicated English teachers, we are now able to express ourselves much better.

PROVIDING HELP & UNDERSTANDING

Our Guidance Counselors are very helpful in many ways. They give us a great deal of information on colleges and advise about which college will meet our needs.

When we finally decide about the college and apply, who do we go to for help? Of course, we go to the counselor. This year, Ms. Sanchez and Ms. Marinello are our Senior counselors and we are most fortunate for them. They never fail in helping us.

They make up our schedules and discuss the classes that are best for us. How many times has Ms. Marinello talked us into a class we did not want? After a while, we began to see that she was really looking out for our best interests and she proved to be right.

By just sitting down and talking with our counselors, we discover many things about ourselves. It is incredible to realize how much we have matured during these four years. We began as Freshman, but hopefully leave as young adults. This sense of responsibility and direction has come through the guidance of our counselors.

In addition to their help, we receive direction from our Foreign Language teachers as well. These teachers provide us with opportunities to become aware of the cultures and traditions from various lands. In our classes, we learn about the customs of many ethnic backgrounds. We also view films and slides, so that we may acquire a broader understanding about the culture and the language. In Ms. Wright's French classes, we were taught the following carols in French; Minuit Chrétien (O Holy Night) and Les Anges dans Notre Campagne (Angels We Have Heard On High). Our teachers stress that we must understand the language and that is why they go to such great lengths to help us to comprehend and speak a foreign language fluently.

The guidance department's college information board proves to be informative as well as useful, especially for Senior John Henriques, as he looks over posters and forms from various colleges.

TECHNICAL

LEARNING THE TECHNICALITIES

Our technical department offers us a chance to work with various materials.

One area that is offered and is of great help is Home Economics. In these classes, we are offered a chance to learn how to prepare many different foods. It is a great experience since students learn to prepare all types of food. Students are required to be able to set a table properly and when the course is completed, the class members have acquired their own recipe box for further use.

For the students who are interested in fashion and enjoy sewing, East Side offers sewing classes. There, students learn how to select materials and make their own clothes. Seniors Zelia Coetano and Nanette Blaszak can still remember how challenging it was to cut and sew their selected patterns. They can also remember with laughter all the times Mrs. Smiley would call all the girls to her desk for demonstrations.

Two other classes that make up this program are Graphics Arts and Drawing. Here, students learn the basic printing processes, which come in very handy when school dance tickets have to be printed up.

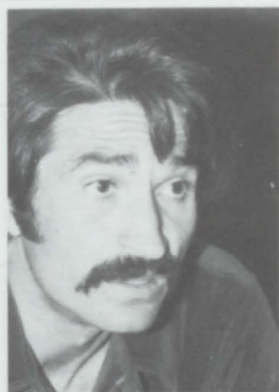

In the Auto and Wood shops, students learn the techniques for fixing their own cars and also how to make things out of wood such as useful articles which include shelves, tables, cabinets and more.

In Electronics, we learn the necessary information needed to pursue advanced study on this subject.

With this wide range of courses, we are prepared to enter various occupations with little difficulty.

Seniors Joe Tavares and Manny Pinto are busy discussing their architectural drawings to see if their project will really work.

ADVANCING OUR MATH SKILLS

Our math department has many subjects available to us. We take required subjects such as Algebra and Geometry, while some of the more adventurous students take subjects such as Calculus and Computer Science.

In our Computer classes, we began with the language known as Basic. This year, Mrs. Salagaj is teaching us a different language which is called Pascal. The Pascal course is very challenging and may only be taken by those students who have taken Basic. By taking these two courses, we gain a great deal of knowledge about computers. This proves to be very useful for those of us who wish to pursue a career in the ever-growing field of computer technology.

In addition to the new Pascal course, the Math department has introduced a new club called the Tessellation Club. Its advisors are Mrs. DiPiazza and Miss Polakowski.

Although the math department still offers many of the traditional courses in mathematics, its members are continually striving to include some of the latest mathematical developments.

SHAPING UP IN '86

And Monday is . . . gym time again! The Physical Education classes are offered to us three times a week. They help keep us physically fit and boost our energy level. In this class, we participate in various sports such as softball, volleyball, weight-lifting, field hockey, football and running. These activities help us understand the importance of team effort and participation.

During the cold winter months, we participate in these sports indoors. Once the weather permits, we are able to go to Independence Park, where we have not only more space, but are also able to soak up sun and breath the fresh Spring air. While out in the park, teachers such as Mr. Blasi and Ms. Alexander test us on our speed in short and long distance races.

In the health classes, we are taught about the basic functions of our body. We are also taught how the use of alcohol and other drugs endanger our lives. Teachers such as Mrs. Galante help us to learn the techniques in C.P.R. and first-aid, so that in case of an actual accident, we can help save not only our lives, but also the lives of others.

Even though East Side does not offer a behind-the-wheel driving program, our teachers give us all the written facts about being out on the road. They also teach us that it is of great importance to be a courteous and safe driver. This has all been very important and helpful to those of us who are newly-licensed drivers. Teachers like Mr. Zarro and Ms. Sreele show us the dangers of driving in poor weather conditions and make us aware of traffic rules and regulations.

Thanks to all our health and physical education teachers we are now aware of the importance of having a healthy body and how to help others in emergency situations.

DISCOVERING THE FUTURE & THE PAST

The teachers who make up the science department always make sure that we understand the intricate laws and formulas we apply to our work in the science classes.

In Chemistry Lab, we do many interesting experiments which require a great deal of care and patience. Broken beakers and burns are common in this class. Even though these mishaps occur, students enjoy participating in the experiments and discovering their outcome.

Besides discovering many things in science, students discover all about the past in their Social Studies classes. We learn how individuals shape the world and what a group of people can accomplish.

In Mr. Bottino's History I Honors Class, we acquired much useful knowledge when we did our term papers. Will we ever forget when Mr. Bottino showed us films on the Civil War?

This year, we had a student teacher, Mr. Armando Hung, who took over Miss Tereski's History classes for several weeks as part of his student teaching experience. He taught us about the way the government operates. We even had the opportunity to create our own government and role-play the various positions in them.

This proved to be very useful as well as interesting to us all because we now have a better understanding of the government and what part society plays in it.

Our media center, is where the librarians Mrs. Gipson, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Rosenbaum can be found. They are always ready to give time and assistance to any of us when we need help with that special book report, materials for a term paper or with just trying to find a book for our reading pleasure.

We also have a fine group of special education teachers who work with each student on a personal basis to help them develop their strong points and make as much progress as possible.

Mr. Grant, our speech therapist, helps us develop our speech in a clear and concise manner. Whatever the problem, he is ready to help.

Mr. Jack and Mr. McCormack, are always busy trying to improve the attendance patterns at East Side. They make all the important calls to help keep attendance at its very best.

Our nurses, Mrs. Black and Ms. Sheridan, make sure that everyone's health records are kept in order and up to date in addition to keeping headaches and upset stomachs at a minimum.

Our drug coordinator, Mr. Wichowski, is prepared to counsel any student about the danger of using drugs.

No matter what type of problems we may have, these special helpers are ready to help in any way.

Ms. Sheridan takes the temperature of an East Sider in the nurse's office to see if it is in the normal range.

IMPORTANT PEOPLE TO EAST SIDE

The key to a good school is cooperation. Our staff does just that. These individuals all have their own role and each and every one plays a very important part at East Side.

Our secretaries are our "information center". Students, as well as parents, ask them all kinds of questions. Even teachers help to keep them busy. Our secretaries always look to help us in any way they can.

The custodians are also very helpful. They operate the boilers to keep the school warm. Mr. Woody gives us his assistance when anything is broken and requires fixing. We must not forget the custodians who clean up the lunch room after every lunch period.

In our cafeteria, Our chef, Mr. Roberts and his staff always serve us with a smile. The cafeteria workers see to it that the students and faculty get nourishing meals.

Last, but not least, we have our security guards who offer their protection when necessary. If there is any violence or vandalism, they always try to control the situation.

These people make East Side "tick". Without them, and their cooperation and assistance, East Side would not be able to function properly.

Faculty Gives It Their Best Shot

Our Junior Varsity baseball and basketball teams sponsored a Faculty vs. Faculty basketball game in early March 1985. A large group of spectators gathered to watch our teachers give it their best "shot".

Mr. Blasi's team and Mr. Duggan's team battled it out with some of our teachers showing us their true athletic ability. Mr. Cullen made 24 points on outside jumpers, and coach Duggan made a fantastic 26 points, while Mr. Gould scored 26 points, and Mr. Gatto made 18 points for coach Blasi's team. Mr. Travisano played in the second half for Mr. Duggan's team. It was a very close game until the last quarter when Mr. Duggan's team won 70 to 58.

Mr. Blasi said, "One of the reasons for the game was to make money so we could buy jackets, equipment, and other items for the baseball and basketball teams. I can't wait for our next Faculty vs. Faculty game."

All in all, the faculty and spectators had a great time participating in this basketball game.

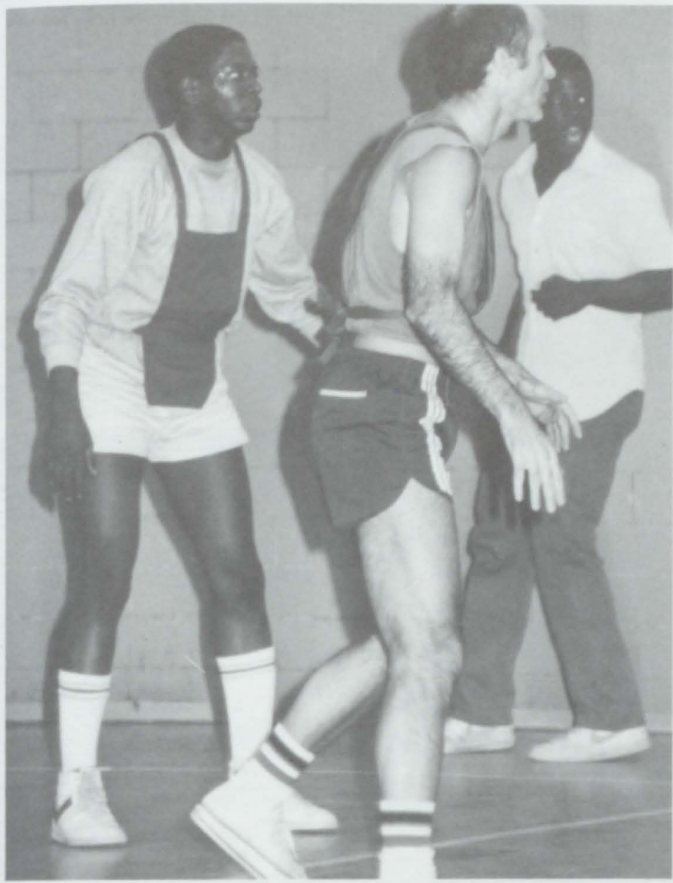

Mr. Gould, a super player on any team, watches the action of the game until it comes his way again.

Mr. Puente, waits with great anticipation, as he watches members of his team score another two points.

These players are all ready for action.

Coach Duggan's Team. Front Row: Mr. Silva, Mr. Duggan, Mr. Rubas, Mr. White & son. Back Row: Mr. Davis, Mr. Cullen, and Mr. Gatto.

There goes Mr. Ruggeri running for the rebound.

Mr. Rubas is excitedly waiting for the layup shot.

An Exceptional Year

As we, the class of 1986, reflect on our final year at East Side, we have many memories to look back on which helped to make our Senior year a memorable one.

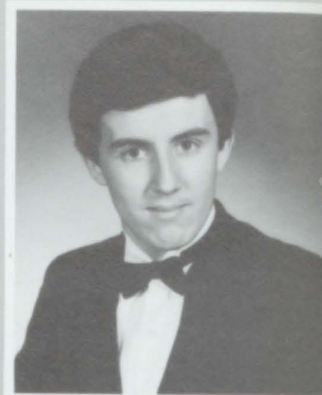

Mrs. Glover, our class advisor, has played a major role in making our last year unforgettable. Under her guidance and assistance, we, as a class, have participated in many fund - raisers and projects which provided entertainment for the whole student body. Helping her to direct the Senior activities such as the prom, splash parties and graduation, are the Senior class officers. President Paul Alves, Vice - President Herlander Amorin, Secretary Maria Costeira and Treasurer Fernando Linhares, represent the Seniors and help to make important decisions dealing with the class.

We would like to thank Mrs. Glover for providing us with the guidance and advice we needed, which helped 1986 to be a truly exceptional year.

A Most Challenging Society

As Junior year came to a close, those Juniors who had maintained a "B" average during their freshman and sophomore years, were inducted into the National Honor Society. The top twenty students in the graduating class of 1986, were selected to become a part of this prestigious club.

The National Honor Society is an organization where top academic students receive the recognition they rightly deserve. Being a member of this organization is an honor in itself, but it also makes a statement of hard-work and dedication.

The officers of the Honor Society for this year's graduating class are as follows: Maria Nogueira, President, Zelia Caaetano, Vice-President, Nanette Blaszak, Secretary and Ana Cantante, Treasurer. The officers are organizing this year's induction ceremony in which all new members will be pinned. The Honor Society will also sponsor fund-raisers in order to provide special awards to be given during graduation.

The National Honor Society is a distinction which is not held by everyone. Being a part of this organization is truly an honorable and prestigious position.

Talented Senior

The number eight senior in this year's graduating class is Dianne Guerreiro. Dianne is a very involved student who takes her responsibilities seriously. She has devoted most of her time to her studies and her grades and standing in class are proof of her accomplishments.

Dianne has also managed to become a part of many extra-curricular activities. She is a member of the National Honor Society, the Student Council, the Ski Club and various other school-based activities. However, the one activity she is totally committed to is her position as co-editor of the Senior Section of the yearbook. She says, "The yearbook is a very important activity to me because at one point or another this book will become a history of our class, and I take great pride in knowing that I was a part of this wonderful experience."

Dianne has applied to several colleges, such as, Drew University, Seton Hall University, and Douglass College in Rutgers, New Brunswick. She is undecided as to what career she wants to pursue, her mind changing every day with new and different prospects. Although her future is in a state of indecision, Dianne believes she will develop her knowledge and scholastic talents to the best of her abilities.

Specially Different

A conventional and predictable person he is not, however, Rui Camarinha, the artist for the '86 Torch, is very talented and somewhat different. He does not look like your average artist, the sensible hair cut and sensible clothes. On the contrary, Rui sports a new wave hair cut and out of the ordinary clothes.

As the art editor of the Yearbook, Rui has created a different and unusual cover, an accomplishment which he takes great pride in. He says, "I am very proud of the cover because it's quite an accomplishment to do something as big as this project. All my friends are getting yearbooks and it makes me feel good that I did the cover."

After high school, Rui intends to go on to either the School of Visual Arts or the New York Research Center of Audio Technology to study music production and studio engineering. His goal is to become a musical producer. He says, "I want to produce 'New Music' bands, electronic dance groups and 'new wave bands'. However, he also wants to learn computer graphics as a 'back-up' career, just in case music producing is not his 'cup of tea'."

His interest in producing stems from his enjoyment in the sounds of records. He feels he can produce records of equal quality. He really enjoys music and wants to become involved in this field and since he doesn't play a musical instrument, the producing business seems like the next best thing. Of course, he doesn't forget to mention that record producers make a lot of money.

Rui has a certain style, which is evident by our cover. He is definitely going places and with his special charm and talent, it won't take him long to realize his goals.

The Seventh Star

An avid Bruce Springsteen fan, Joey Santos gives a new meaning to the word scholar. The routine of an average school day is broken by his numerous anecdotes and quick wit. His personality is a refreshing addition to any day.

Joey is a very sensitive and well - mannered individual who is a distinct credit to his parents and peers. He, at the same time works diligently in his job at a local business, as well as in his school work which is reflected by his high academic ranking. Joey is very proud of his accomplishments, one of which is his position as the 7th ranked Senior in the class.

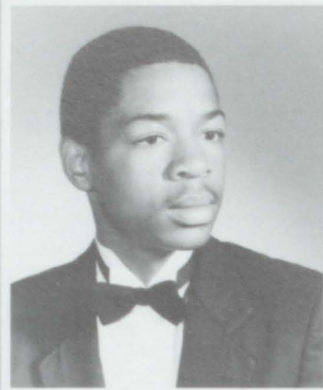

He is undecided as to what direction his future will take. However, he has applied to several colleges which he hopes will help him to narrow down his career objectives.

A Home Away From Home

At the beginning of every school year, one of the things we look forward to is the distribution of lockers. Most students can not bear the thought of carrying more than one book at all times and eagerly await the chance to relieve the burden of seven classes worth of books.

Once the lockers are assigned, decorative ideas are put to work. Even though the lockers first serve to store one's books, the dreary metal compartments soon turns into a smaller version of the average teenage room. Everything from sweaty gym shorts to favorite posters become inhabitants of our lockers.

As senior year approaches, one of the reasons we look forward to it is because we will no longer have to share lockers with another person, like underclassmen do. However, somehow they become filled with our friends books and jackets and before we know it, it is overcrowded and messy, yet we do not seem to mind.

When June rolls around and it is time to say good-bye to our home away from home, we discover that forgotten library book and that homework assignment which was due in January. The posters come down and the stuffed animals are all put away, ready to be taken home.

We will miss the fun times and wonderful memories that were created at these lockers during the four minutes between classes and remember how we looked forward to our daily pitstops.

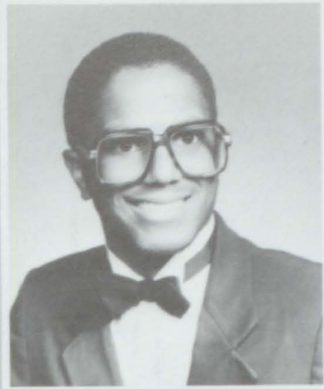

Students manage to transform their lockers into a home away from home.

On Her Way Up

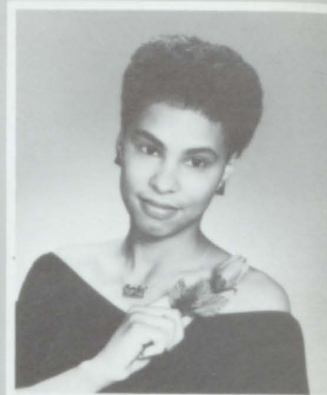

Maria Garcia, who ranked number six in the senior class, is very proud of maintaining her 4.0 grade point average. She admits she has become a better student while at East Side and has been actively involved in extra-curricular activities. Among her involvements are the Civics Club, the National Honor Society, and a homeroom representative. While she enjoys her activities, her favorite subject is Math. She finds equations and formulas very interesting and challenging.

In addition to her extra-curricular activities, Maria is involved in her community. She has volunteered to become a tutor and help those students who require extra assistance in mathematical and reading skills. She states, "Being a tutor has given me a sense of responsibility, and it has helped me grow into a better person and to appreciate the teaching profession."

Maria intends to go on to a four-year college, but is undecided as to what her major will be. She has developed several characteristics such as dedication, ambition, and drive, that will aid her in all her future endeavors.

An Unforgettable Threesome

Manny Santos, Paulo Gomes, and Joao Acabou have been members of the East Side Track Team since Freshman year. Being members of the Cross-Country team, and the Indoor and Outdoor Track Team have allowed them to make remarkable contributions to the school spirit at East Side.

There has been a common trend between these three runners. Since their debut in 1982, they have compiled a note worthy list of accomplishments in the course of their careers which will never be equaled.

As Freshmen, they won the Junior Varsity City and Country Championships. As Sophomores, they won the City, Country, and the North II Group 4 State Championship. As Juniors, they captured the city, country, and the All State Group 4. Continuing with these victories, as juniors, they have won the city, Essex County, Group 4, Springarn, Easterns and the Bernards Championships. Led by captain Manny Santos, they have guided their East Side Raiders to victories in New York, Texas, California, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut, establishing new records in every area, over the past four years.

All three runners wish to go on to college to further their education. With all of their victories, the events that highlighted the season were when Carlos Lopes, the 1984 Olympic Marathon Gold Medalist, went to the East Side Varsity Cross Country Meet in Branch Brook Park, and when Tom Fleming honored the East Side Track Team by speaking at their 1985 Championship Dinner.

As these Seniors graduate, they will remember the long practices, the many victories, but most of all the unity which they have shared as a family.

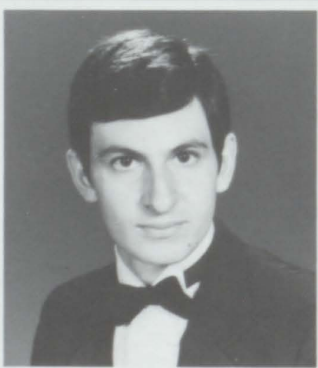

Nanette Blaszak breathes a sigh of relief after finding a parking space on a Wednesday street cleaning day.

Seniors, Start Your Engines!

Like all other sixteen year olds, many teen - agers cannot wait for their seventeenth birthday. The best present they can get is a driver's license and the keys to the family car. Some teen - agers feverishly rush after school to work at the corner super - market, to make money to buy a car. Other just rush home to get the family car.

How many times have parents heard that worn out line, "Can I borrow the car tonight?", followed by a logical explanation as to why the car is so desperately needed. We then go on to say that Dad could chauffeur a bunch of teen - agers somewhere, dragging himself out of a nice, warm bed at 12:00 that night to go pick up and drop off each youngster, one at a time. This line usually stops him cold and he reluctantly hands over the keys to the car.

For Paul Alves, this is most often the case. The 1984 beige Volvo in which Paul proudly cruises around the streets of Newark in, is, most definitely, his father's. While his Dad makes the payments on the car, Paul handles it like his baby. Washings by hand and waxed 'til it shines, Paul believes in only the best for his car.

For Raymond Ballester and Nanette Blaszk, their most prized possessions are the cars that are "lock, stock, and barrel", all theirs. Nanette's 1977 brown Hornet is her most reliable companion, bringing her to and from school every day. She handles her car as she would a fine piece of art, very carefully. Never endangering the life of her car, Nanette is very proud to call it her own.

Raymond Ballester's 1982 Olds Ninety - Eight Regency Brouham is most definitely the "feather in his cap". Raymond keeps his car in tip - top condition, always making sure nothing will cause harm to his "mobile". Ray, although is very happy with his car as it is, cannot resist the urge to add little extras that will make his car even more special. A portable T.V. and VCR are a few of the little items he wants to incorporate into his back seat.

These three Seniors, along with others, are fortunate to have their own means of transportation. For the rest of us who have licenses but, unfortunately still have to walk, we do envy and admire those that have "wheels."

Looking debonair, Paul Alves gets ready to take the wheel.

Academic Star

Ranking number five is an accomplishment Casilda Bua takes immense pride in. She feels a great sense of satisfaction by knowing all those long hours of studying finally paid off. Her goal of obtaining a good education is becoming closer and closer to her grasp as she continues to display outstanding academic performance.

Aside from school she enjoys listening to music and idolizing Rick Springfield. She also finds personal satisfaction in helping others and therefore she volunteered to tutor at the Ironbound Educational and Cultural Center to help students that needed assistance in mathematical and reading skills. By doing so, Casilda began to narrow down her career choices. She realized she enjoys teaching and hopes to combine this with her interest in psychology. She has not made her final decision, as to what college she will attend but wherever she goes she undoubtedly will have a future filled with success.

Business As Usual

The Business Olympics took place on May 4, 1985 at Shabazz High School. A number of East Side students participated and returned home with many of the prizes. This event was sponsored by the businesses in the area, who contributed the prizes. First place prize was a black and white T.V., second place was a panasonic radio and cassette player and third place was a cassette player.

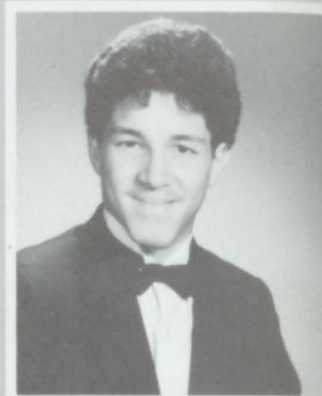

The competition began at East Side where three contestants were chosen for each of the following categories: Typing I, II, III; Steno I, II and Bookkeeping I and II. These winners went on to compete against other schools in the city at the Business Olympics.

The day began with registration and breakfast and proceeded with a warm up session. Then the final competition began and the testing lasted for one hour, as each contest, after long hours of practice and dedication, strived to do his/her very best. The typewriters kept clicking away and the pens and pencils swiftly completed the assigned work.

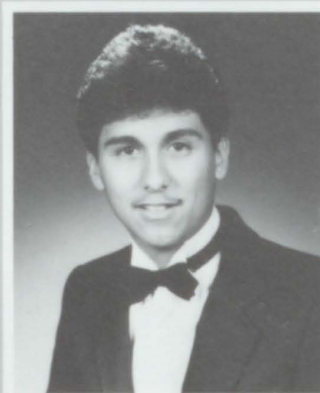

The winners were finally announced. Ana Marques placed third in Bookkeeping II, Rosemarie Parascando placed second in Steno II and AnnMarie Neves placed first in Bookkeeping I. These three students, through their hard work and dedication, have proved to be a definite source of pride for our school.

Dedicated and Ambitious

A dedicated and ambitious student, Joe Krutsick, has achieved the honorable rank of fourth in the senior class.

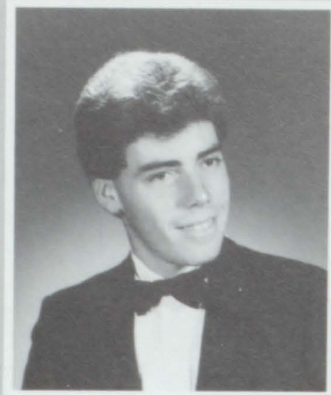

He enjoys mathematics and is proud of his ability to interpret the various concepts of this subject relatively quickly. He has received various awards for his academic excellence; one of which is first place in an Algebra I contest which exemplifies his willingness to learn and his ability to put acquired mathematical knowledge to work.

Joe is a person who takes his work very seriously. His grades are very important to him and he strives to achieve to the best of his ability.

Computer science and engineering are tentative majors which he has been considering as possible career choices. He has applied to various colleges such as Princeton University, the New Jersey Institute of Technology and Drew University. Although he has not received any confirmations at this writing, his optimism and zeal will propel him towards great academic heights.

Expanding New Horizons

Maria Rocha was one of the few students selected from New Jersey to attend the Close-Up Program in Washington D.C.

The Close-Up Program brings high school students and teachers from all over the United States to the nation's capital for a week of on-sight learning experiences. While in Washington D.C., Maria attended several seminars where political figures spoke to the group about current issues such as problems in education, nuclear weapons, and the national deficit. These seminars were very informative and students were encouraged to voice their opinions and ask questions pertaining to these issues.

The program also consisted of visiting many famous sights as a tour guide explained the history and facts about such landmarks as the Smithsonian, the White House, and Capital Hill. One of the places Maria enjoyed visiting was Ford's Theatre, where President Lincoln was assassinated. While there, she attended a performance of "Godspell". After a day of sight-seeing and seminars, the group returned to the hotel and relaxed in the saunas or swam in the pool.

Maria's last day in Washington D.C. was a memorable one. They were given the day to spend at their own leisure. She visited the Arlington Cemetery and witnessed the Changing of the Guard. In the evening, a banquet was held and good-byes were exchanged among the participants of this program. Maria found it very difficult to part from all of her new friends and stated, "The Close-Up Program was truly a great experience. I'll never forget all the great people I met and the wonderful times we had while also learning about our nation's government."

Striving For Success

Our third ranking Senior is Maria Nogueira. Her determination to succeed is one of the major reasons she does so well academically. Maria's zeal to help others as well as advance herself is remarkable.

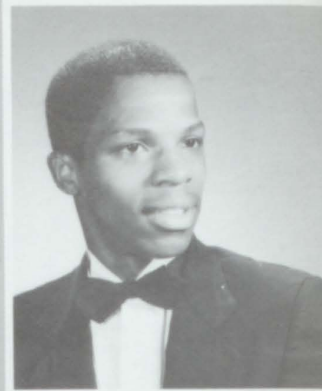

She enjoys the opportunity to deal with people and therefore involves herself in many extra - curricular activities and clubs. She is the co - editor of the Senior section of the '86 Torch, editor of the Announcer, President of the Honor Society and sergeant of the sabre line in the Winterguard. When talking to Maria, one can easily detect that being in the Winterguard means so very much to her. She states, "Being in the Winterguard is a challenge; mastering a difficult move brings an immense feeling of self - satisfaction and accomplishment".

She has applied to several colleges such as Drew, Rutgers, and Montclair. Though she has not made any final decisions as to what major she will select, Maria is deeply considering Business Administration. She hopes college will help her develop career skills as well as provide the opportunities for success in her chosen field.

The Newest Leaders

At the end of Junior Year, five boys had the privilege of attending a special program at Rider College called New Jersey Boys State. For Joe Krutsick, Freddie Linhares, Angel Ortiz, Fernando Franco and Eddie Gregorio, Boys State was an exciting way to bring Junior year to a close.

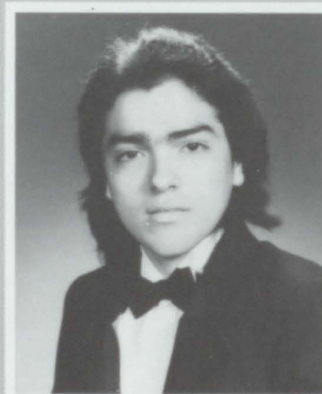

Once at Rider College, they were put into separate dorms and got to meet other boys from high schools all over New Jersey. Each dorm was a city and every two cities was a county. The counties then had meetings to develop county governments. In these meetings they developed their own form of city government and decided on how large their city or town would be, what the population would be and what kind of town it would be; for example, industrial or farming.

Along with the academic portion of the program, the boys were given opportunities to relax and enjoy the campus. The college grounds were beautiful, surround by many trees and fields of grass. According to Joe Krutsick, "The air was fresh and clean which made it very relaxing". The boys also got a chance to become involved in many sports activities. Softball, volleyball, water polo and swimming were among some of the sports enjoyed at the college.

Although the week at Rider College was a short one, for Joe, Freddie, Angel, Fernando and Eddie, the fun, excitement and new adventures that took place at Boys State was enough to last a lifetime.

Eddie Gregorio, Angel Ortiz, Fernando Franco, Joe Krutsick and Fernando Linhares, scholars of Boys' State at Rider College, assemble together for a snapshot.

Looking To The Future

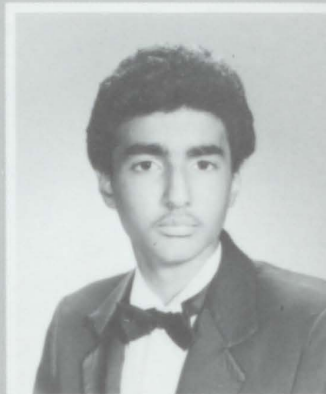

In the fall of 1986, many Seniors will be entering college. For many, the atmosphere and study habits will be a drastic change compared to East Side. However, for Gloria Pereira, Paula Ruivo, Claudia Carao and Leticia Rodriguez, the change to a collegiate lifestyle will be somewhat easier.

These four East Siders gave up their spare time in order to become involved in two college classes offered by Essex County College. These two classes, Business and Psychology, were given two days a week for one hour and twenty minutes a piece. Gloria, Paula, Claudia and Leticia signed up for these classes in late September when a representative from Essex County College visited East Side and informed the students about these classes. Along with these four girls, many other East Siders signed up for the courses which would one day become very helpful in college.

The classes concluded after one semester and for Gloria, Paula, Claudia, and Leticia, as well as the other students who

COMMUNITY

Newark in many ways is a typical New Jersey industrial city. It was founded in the 1600's by people seeking religious freedom.

Today, Newark continues to have thriving ethnic areas, as well as art, culture, and entertainment.

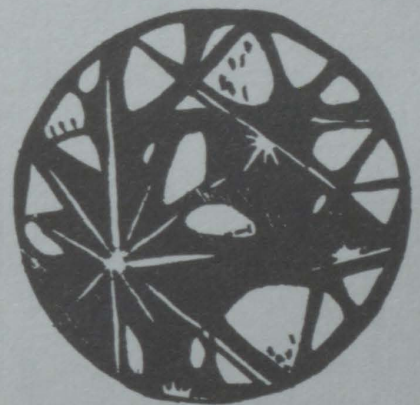

At the top of any agenda for a visitor is the area known as the "Ironbound". During any given week day, the commercial area, located on either side of Ferry St., teems with shoppers.

Here one can find fresh vegetables and fruit stores with outdoor stands along with bakeries and seafood stores. Although most of the area is Portuguese and Hispanic, a bazaar-of-all nations atmosphere is spiced with other ethnic specialties.

For many visitors, the Ironbound is known for its restaurants, which offer a variety of Portuguese cuisine.

Along with the variety of commercial enterprise, East Side High School also stands out as a major portion of this close-knit community. East Siders are very active in their community. Whether it is tutoring children at the Ironbound Educational and Cultural Center, or helping to organize the annual senior citizens luncheon given by the Student Council, East Siders have shown their concern and involvement in their community.

The devotion and assistance to the community given by East Siders proves their willingness to interact and grow with other influences outside of high school. By becoming involved in the Ironbound, East Siders have shown that the two different worlds can be brought together into one sparkling environment.

ANNIVERSARY

Friends Share Memories

Sunday, April 28, 1985 was finally the day that former graduates and friends of East Side High School got to see each other after many years.

Class members began the afternoon with a reception held in the high school cafeteria.

Everyone was really excited, and, of course surprised to see changes especially as to the size of the school. This event was held to provide an opportunity for past graduates to meet and exchange memories of pleasant times spent at East Side.

Mr. Rudy Zapfel, class of 1943, said, "it was a chance for graduates and friends to share memories, and perhaps give support and opportunities to the present student body, since many graduates represent a broad spectrum of careers, both in business and the professional world!"

Serving on the committee, with Zapfel were Mrs. Matarazzo and Mrs. Pelose along with student helpers. There were classmates from as far away as California, Penna. and Ohio.

Plans are underway to have a second reunion in the Fall of 1986.

Mr. Zapfel, chairperson for this special reunion, takes time out to get refreshments while seeing old friends.

Graduates of the class of 1943, proudly display their copy of the Torch.

Enjoying the festivities at the reunion, are members from the oldest graduating class.

Mr. and Mrs. Banias enjoy a quiet moment during the celebration at East Side High.

Like every year, 1986 was a kaleidoscope: heroes and villains, fads and farces, triumphs and tragedy, all flashed before us - then were gone. But the year also produced moments, so singularly its own that they will always define '86 in the corridors of our memories: the earthquake in Mexico that killed 20,000 people and that fight against Apartheid in South Africa. In America, it was the year for heroism and the revival of patriotism as Rocky IV and Rambo hit the movie theatres. Abroad, President Ferdinand Marcos was ousted from the Phillipines, volcanic eruptions buried a town of 25,000 in Columbia, there was continued famine in Ethiopia and the hijacking of the "Achille Lauro", an Italian cruise liner in which one American was killed. But in welcome relief from a world of bruising turmoil, there was a summit between President Reagan and Soviet Leader Mikhail Gorbachov to discuss world peace. In this article, we would like to hold up the Kaleidoscope that was 1986 so you can look back and remember.

Terrorism made a definite impact in 1986 with several hijackings. The TWA flight that was taken to Beirut had a happy ending with the release of all hostages, but not until one U.S. sailor, Robert Dean Stethem, was killed. The Italian cruise liner, "Achille Lauro", also fell into the hands of terrorists, as the ship was captured and one American, Leon Klinghoffer, was murdered and thrown overboard. Terrorism continued as Shi-ite hijackers destroyed a Jordanian airliner after releasing all 71 passengers on board.

Nature also made a statement in 1986 as disasters in Mexico and Columbia killed many people. The "killer quake" in Mexico city left 20,000 dead and a volcanic eruption buried a town of 25,000 people in Columbia.

Political upheavals continued in 1986 with the removal of Phillipines President Ferdinand Marcos. In South Africa, violence erupted as the war against Apartheid waged on.

The fight against the famine in Ethiopia continued as Bob Geldof helped to organize the historic Live Aid concerts, one in London and one in Philadelphia, that were broadcasted to one billion plus TV viewers around the world. The concerts featured artist such as Tina Turner, Mick Jagger, Bob Dylan, David Bowie, and Elton John, just to name a few.

1986 was also a year of farewell as we bid good-bye to Rock Hugson, Yul Brynner, who starred for many years in "The King and I", Orson Wells, who "would sell no wine before its time" and Samantha Smith, the thirteen year old whose letter to the Soviet leader Yuri Andropov, catapulted her into an emissary for peace.

With all the serious political debtes and upheavals in 1986, it was almost a relief as the "new" coke battled it out with the "old" coke for consumer popularity. President Reagan had successful cancer surgery and Bill Cosby became a one-man multi-media phenomena.

It was a year for sports records as Pete Rose broke Ty Cobbs' record of 4,191 hits, the Chicago Bears won Superbowl XX with the heaviest running back, Refrigerator Perry, and Boris Becker shocked the world by winning the Wimbeldon tennis championship.

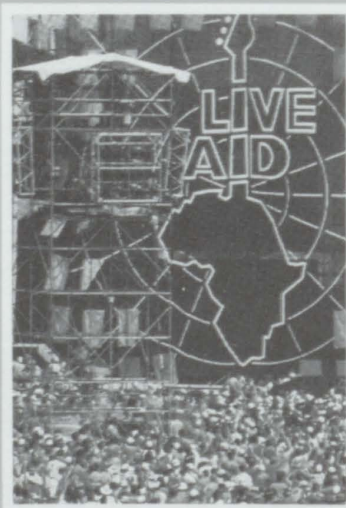

Scientific advances also took place in 1986 as Halleys Comet visited the earth's atmosphere. Scientists hope Halleys Comet will provide the answers to many questions about the formation of the earth, all those years ago.

Most of all, 1986 was a year of great triumph as well as tragedy. The summit in Geneva between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachov was the first step in the direction of world peace while the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger left millions of people around the world in shock and disbelief.

1986 will always be remembered not simply because it was our Senior year, but it will also be remembered because of the various world events which helped to make 1986 a very special year.

The historical Live-Aid Concert conducted in Philadelphia raised a tremendous amount of money for the needy in Ethiopia.

President Ronald Reagan and Soviet Leader Mikhail Gorbachov meet in Geneva for a Summit discussing world peace.

FLASHBACKS

"We mourn seven heroes:

Michael Smith, Dick Scobee, Judith Resnik, Ronald McNair, Ellison Onizuka, Gregory Jarvis and Christa McAuliffe.

They had that special grace, that special spirit that says give me a challenge and I'll meet it with joy.

*We will never forget them or the last time we saw them . . .
as they waved goodbye and slipped the surly bonds of Earth to touch the face of God."*

AN UNFORGET

February 21, 1986 was just another Friday night for many teenagers, but for Dashel Godfrey it was "the night". Being crowned "Miss East Side" was definitely a thrilling experience.

The "Miss East Side Contest and Dance" was sponsored by the Senior Class. The queen and her court were chosen from approximately nineteen applicants from the 9th, 10th, 11th, and the 12th grades. Judged on such qualities as posture, poise and overall appearance, the judges had a tough time making their final decisions. As each contestant lined up one last time, the audience waited anxiously for the results. The scores were totalled and the winners were announced. While each contestant was treated to a 2-week pass to a spa, the winner received various prizes such as a black and white television set, a gift certificate to Bamberger's and to a beauty salon of her choice. Included in the package was dinner for two and a pass to a night-club.

Dashel Godfrey, the winner, exemplifies the best that East Side has to offer. A very active member in school-related activities such as the Winterguard and the Black-Heritage Club, Dashel is also February's "Student of the Month". The title that was bestowed on her is an important addition to her list of achievements. As a Senior, she eagerly looks forward to proudly representing her school, and as the first "Miss East Side" she expects to set an example for future winners and begin a lifelong tradition here at our school.

A smile of triumph lights up senior Dashel Godfrey's face when she is announced as "Ms. East Side" for the year 1986.

Senior Class Advisor, Mrs. Glover, congratulates the winner.

THE END IS JUST

Julio Cunha takes some time off from his classwork for a moment of private thoughts.

Lunch time will always be remembered as the one time during the day when we all got together and enjoyed being ourselves.

THE BEGINNING

A cherished momento of that very special day.

Four years ago, when we were freshman, we admired and envied the Seniors. We looked up to those students who had almost completed high school, those that had first preference whether it was distribution of lockers or assigned seats in assembly.

Well, as those Seniors graduated and others took their place, we became involved in many activities and formed many new friendships. Soon, we were too busy to envy and admire those Seniors who would graduate in June, but the thought of becoming Seniors was always in our minds, buried deep underneath the homework assignments and book reports. As we continued through high school, we created many new memories and friendships that would make our years at East Side so very worthwhile.

As Senior year finally became our year, we realized that there was hardly a difference from being a Junior or a Senior. When we look back on our Senior year, we will remember the exciting and fun-filled times that we spent together. The times spent at our lockers, making us late for class, the times in the cafeteria when we relaxed and shared moments with laughter.

As we graduate, we will be entering a new world. The world of college campuses' and lecture halls as well as offices and boardrooms. We will become part of a new life, sadly leaving our old one behind. However, the four years spent at East Side, the new friends and different experiences, will always be a part of our lives and as we emerge into our new world, we will always remember our four sparkling years spent at East Side.

The ultimate reward after four years of hard work.
